OFFICER KILLS SELF BEFORE TESTIMONY

Mulligan Cleared In 1950 by RCMP Secret Investigation

(CP and BUP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Terry Parsloe, former RCMP officer, made a secret report to the Vancouver Police Commission in 1950 clearing Chief Walter Mulligan of accusations he accepted underworld bribes, the Tupper Royal Commission was told today.

Former Mayor Charles Thompson said he received the undercover report after appeals to the RCMP and the attorney-general to investigate were refused.

"There is not the slightest semblance of truth in suggestions that the chief is associated with the underworld or that he is taking bribes," Parsloe's report read.

The officer said it caused "much annoyance and worry" to the criminal element that they could not approach Mulligan.

PROBE COST $1,773

Commission counsel J. G. A. Hutcheson also produced accounts and receipts for an advance of $500 and expenses totalling $1,273 Parsloe incurred in his investigation.

Mr. Thompson related how Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert had come to him with Gordon Scott, then city prosecutor and now a magistrate, and told him in confidence he had taken bribes from bookmakers in 1949 and shared them with Mulligan and other officers.

He said Judge Ray Sargent, one of the three police commissioners was sent to Ottawa to ask Supt. J. S. Wood of the RCMP to investigate.

The request was refused, Mr. Thompson said, and he personally made a trip to Ottawa to ask Justice Minister Gaisson to intercede.

REFUSED BY GARSON

"I remember I got Mr. Garson out of the House of Commons and asked him to make an exception to help clear up the situation. He said 'if we do this for Vancouver's municipal force, we would be called upon by other municipalities...'"

Mr. Thompson, an automobile executive who was mayor from Jan. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1950, testified that Cuthbert came to him in 1949 "and told me a story that he had been taking money from certain people and dividing it with police chief Walter Mulligan."

"I was under the impression it had concluded by the time he came to see me."

He said he also had a meeting in confidence with Det. Sgt. Robert Leatherdale on the subject.

As a result of the Parsloe report, Mr. Hutcheson asked, what action did the police commission take?

"We didn't take any action because we didn't have anything to base our action on. In the case of Cuthbert we could not use his evidence."

Mr. Thompson said the men on the various police squads were scattered.

"Why did you retain Cuthbert on the force?" asked Mr. Hutcheson.

"Well, if we dismissed him we would have to show cause," Mr. Thompson said Cuthbert had given him the evidence he had given in confidence to him and Mr. Scott would be denied in public.

T. G. Norris, counsel for Mulligan, cross-examining Mr. Thompson asked if the squad system was under fire before Cuthbert came to him.

"So I understand."

"Then in effect it was the policy of the police commission and the chief constable carried it out?" Mr. Norris asked.

"That's right," Mr. Norris asked if Mr. Thompson "considered the unfairness of leaving this self-admitted bribe-taker" on his hands.

Keeping Cuthbert was the lesser of two evils, the former mayor replied.

Parsloe was identified as a security officer for the Powell River Pulp and Paper Co.

"I saw Mr. Parsloe myself and made arrangements myself," Mr. Thompson told Mr. Norris. "Other members of the commission were not present, although they were fully aware of the arrangements."

Sargent and Magistrate Oscar Orr were the other commissioners.

"The three of us met—but not in commission—and read the report. It did not get into the records."

He said the report "went into a sealed envelope at City Hall" on his orders.

The letter was shown to then attorney-general Gordon Wismer who said "we had a very clear police force in Vancouver."

Mr. Wismer's name has been mentioned by Det. Sgt. Archie Plummer earlier in the inquiry.

Plummer said Cuthbert told him the chief "had everything fixed in Victoria" and was "close to Wismer."

Cuthbert said earlier this week he is confident he did not mention Mr. Wismer by name and the former attorney-general has asked to testify to refute Plummer's statement.

WALLACE ABSENT
Edwin Percy (Pete) Wallace was the first witness called today, but did not answer the call.

Wallace has been named during the inquiry as a gambler who paid for protection of his bookmaking premises.

H. Lyle Jesty, counsel for Supt. Jack Horton, chief of detectives, said Wallace, under subpoena to testify today, had understood there would be other witnesses ahead of him.

"He said he was making $13.20 a day at the Alberta Wheat Pool and would make only $6 a day as a witness," said Mr. Jesty. "He will be here."

First witness today was scheduled to have been Supt. Harry Whelan, who died at his home from a gunshot wound earlier in the morning.

Commission Counsel Hutcheson opened the session, saying to Mr. Tupper: "... we were very sorry to hear about Mr. Whelan, who was in the box earlier."

Mr. Tupper, reported upset over the shooting, plus the loss of his law partner, D. Milton Owen, missing aboard a lost plane in the Kitimat area, interrupted Mr. Hutcheson quietly, and said: "Call the next witness."

FIRST SWEEPSTAKES LEGALIZED IN U.S.

CONCORD, N.H. (UP)—Governor Lane Dwinell signs today a legislative bill setting up the first state sweepstakes in the nation.

The sweepstakes bill was approved Thursday by the New Hampshire Senate.

Under the plan, two extra races would be held annually at Rockingham Park horse track. Tickets would be sold at $5 each for a tentative top prize of $25,000.

State Rep. Laurence M. Pickett, sponsor of the bill, said it would bring the state about $2,000,000 annually in added revenue. Money from the sweepstakes would go into the state's general fund.

Thieves Get $3,600 From Bank Messenger

LANGLEY PRAIRIE, B.C. (BUP)—Three armed men today held up bank messenger William Allan Walker of $3,600 and escaped in a late model car.

The robbery occurred about 10:20 a.m. near this Fraser Valley center.

Walker told police he was taking the money from the main branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here to a branch about six miles away at Fort Langley, when his car was forced to the side of the road by three men in a convertible.

Walker said the heavily armed and masked men forced him to hand over the money, then tied him up and left him by the side of the road.

Langley Prairie is about 20 miles east of Vancouver.

RCAF search officials said low-hanging cloud had stymied an air search Thursday for the Grumman Mallard amphibian which disappeared on a flight from Kamloops to Kitimat, 400 miles north of Vancouver.

Aboard the missing Pacific Western Airlines plane are three prominent Vancouver businessmen, the pilot and co-pilot. They are:

D. Milton Owen, 42, deputy chairman of the Vancouver school board and partner in the law firm headed by Defence Minister Campney;

Lt.-Col. Macgregor Macintosh, 58, formerly of Victoria, industrial consultant and one-time Conservative member of the B.C. legislature;

Albert Gorman, 43-year-old assistant manager of the Saguenay-Kitimat Co., a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of Canada;

Edward Bell of Vancouver, pilot, and Kendall King, 23, of North Vancouver, co-pilot.

Marlene At 18th In Par

Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., defending champion of the Canadian Ladies' Close Golf championship, today was an even par 77 at the end of her second 18-hole round in the 54-hole tournament.

Miss Stewart Thursday shot a par-breaking 75 to lead Miss Rae Milligan of Jasper by four strokes.

Women's par for the Colwood course is 77.

Miss Stewart went one under par at the 405-yard dogleg third hole today with a birdie four. She remained one under par until the ninth when she took a bogie five, taking three shots from the edge of the green.

That gave her a ladies' par 37 in the front nine. She then parred the next four holes and again went one under with a birdie four on the 426-yard 14th. However, she bumped into trouble on the 165-yard, par 3 15th when her tee shot caught a trap and she took a bogie four.

For the second successive day Miss Stewart was in the trap to the left of the 16th green. She blasted out 30 feet past the pin and barely missed the putt for a birdie, finally getting down in a par 5. She took a bogie 5 on 17 but made a sensational recovery for a birdie 4 on the 18th.

Supt. Harry Whelan Suicide; Feared 'Smear'

VANCOUVER—Police superintendent Harry Whelan committed suicide today, three hours before he was scheduled for cross-examination at the Royal commission investigating the police force.

His wife found him at 8 a.m. in the living-room of their home, mortally wounded. His service revolver was by his side.

High Vancouver police officials said the wound was self-inflicted.

Superintendent Whelan was accused at earlier commission hearings of being the key figure in a senior police officers' conspiracy to "destroy" Chief Walter Mulligan—"the only man the underworld really fears."

The accusation was made by T. G. Norris, QC, counsel for Chief Mulligan.

On Thursday Whelan told lawyer Neil Fleischman, one of the commission counsel, he was afraid of testifying, fearing a "smear campaign" against his personal life.

Whelan was the second Vancouver police officer to shoot himself.

Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert, whose charges of bribe-taking by Chief Mulligan sparked the police probe, shot himself with his service revolver June 24—also about 8 o'clock in the morning in the police station.

The bullet missed Cuthbert's heart by a fraction of an inch, and he recovered to become the key witness in the inquiry. He ended six days of testimony and cross-examination Thursday.

Got Cuthbert's Statement

Whelan was one of the last to talk to Cuthbert before the suicide attempt.

Whelan rushed to Cuthbert's side after the shooting, and said: "No hard feelings, Len."

"No hard feelings," replied the wounded Cuthbert.

Cuthbert testified last week that Whelan early this year asked him to sign a statement on bribetaking in which Cuthbert claimed Chief Mulligan shared. At that time Whelan said "I think we have enough evidence on this monkey to send him to jail." He gestured,

Once Was No. 2 Man

Whelan, 51 years old and father of two sons, once was deputy chief constable. He was demoted to patrol superintendent after an off-duty incident, involving an RCMP officer.

His brother, Jack Whelan, a former Vancouver detective, is now bodyguard for Ray Munro, resigned reporter for Flash, Toronto tabloid. It was Munro's articles on police corruption and laxity that stirred the Royal commission inquiry by R. H. Tupper, QC.

Mr. Tupper, appointed by Attorney-General Robert W. Bonner a few hours after Cuthbert's suicide attempt, Thursday ruled Munro "in contempt" and now is considering whether to punish him. Flash magazine and its editor by jail or fine. (See Page 2.)

Whelan was near death when Mrs. Whelan reached his side. He died moments later in an ambulance. Police said his service revolver was fully loaded, the chamber containing only one spent bullet.

Several police officers live in the district and within minutes of the first call to headquarters, they had reached the scene.

Headquarters Keeps Silent

There was a cloak of silence at headquarters. Acting police chief Alan Rossiter was at the Whelan home shortly after the shooting.

Mrs. Whelan was in a state of shock and under medical care. The officer's two sons, Richard, 15, and Peter, 10, were at home at the time of the shooting.

Rossiter declined to discuss details with the press. He was closeted with magistrate Oscar Orr, a member of the police commission, for 40 minutes during the forenoon. They did not reveal their discussions.

Mayor Fred Hume, chairman of the commission, is on holidays, but the acting mayor, A. I. George Cunningham, said he will not call a special meeting before the regular one scheduled for next Tuesday.

"I will be content to leave the matter with the royal commission at the moment," he said.

Whelan was one of the most popular officers on the Vancouver force although he had the reputation of being a strict disciplinarian.

Police Prober Rules Munro 'In Contempt'

Tupper Studies Punishment For Reporter, Flash Tabloid

By BRUCE LEVETT, Canadian Press Staff Writer
VANCOUVER (CP)—Reporter Ray Munro and officials of Toronto's weekly tabloid Flash, whose articles touched off the royal commission investigation into Vancouver's police force, have been declared guilty of contempt of that commission.

The decision, handed down here Thursday, named Munro, publisher Louis Ruby and editor Howard Somerville "alias Peter Dunsmeir."

Commissioner Reginald H. Tupper, ruling after an afternoon of legal wrangling, said he considered "there has been a contempt here—and a serious one."

"Although it may not do me or my commission any particular good it is my responsibility to consider a fine or imprisonment," the Royal Commissioner said. Then he added: "I cannot promise an early decision."

Mr. Tupper earlier refused a submission by T. G. Norris and G. S. Cummings, counsel for police chief Walter Mulligan, to make an order for committal against Munro, Ruby and Somerville.

Mr. Tupper said he believed there had been contempt committed in a July 23 editorial in Flash and it was up to him, as commissioner, to decide if punishment was warranted.

So far as a possible repetition of contempt by the tabloid was concerned, the commissioner said, he believed the word of Willis Chitty, Toronto lawyer for Flash, "is better than any fine."

Chitty apologized to the commission for the editorial earlier in the sittings, both by telephone to Mr. Tupper and by a follow-up telegram.

It was Munro's first official appearance in court, but he did not speak. Counsel Neil Fleishman read his war record as a fighter pilot and mentioned different citations for news gathering the reporter has won—two from the present police commission.

Munro is under subpoena to testify later in the hearings. Mr. Fleishman said Munro "was not responsible for writing the editorial of July 23. He was called to Toronto and asked to write it and refused. It was written without his consent or knowledge."

He said it was over the editorial, in part, that Munro had resigned from Flash, effective Monday.

'Think It Over,' Cuthbert Told

Earlier Thursday, Det-Sgt. Len Cuthbert ended six days of evidence and cross-examination and left the witness box with this warning from Mr. Tupper:

"I can't help feeling you do know and could tell me the names of men on your squad to whom you gave money. I want you to think it over, and if I am correct in my assumption, I hope you will communicate with your counsel."

Mr. Tupper told the 54-year-old officer who claimed he had shared bribes from bookmakers with Mulligan his refusal to give names of other officers to whom he gave money "causes me some concern."

During three days' cross-examination this week, Cuthbert said time and again he

CITY POLICE BASIS FOR COMPARISON

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver police department will be studied by the Tupper commission in comparison with other police forces in Canada.

Reginald H. Tupper, head of the commission inquiring into charges of corruption within the Vancouver force, said Thursday he had received annual reports of the Winnipeg, Montreal, Victoria and Ottawa forces covering 1953 and 1954, and of the Toronto force for 1952-53.

B.C. to Pay All Costs Of Inquiry

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced Thursday the cost of the Vancouver police department inquiry—estimated at $15,000—will be paid by the provincial government.

Bonner said that under the public inquiries act, the government was responsible for all costs of a royal commissioner, his counsel, the commission secretary, court stenographers and other personnel.

Cops and Robbers Nearly Fatal To 4-Year-Old

CALGARY (CP)—A four-year-old boy was almost unconscious Thursday when rescued from a tree where he had been "strung up" by the neck in a game of "cops and robbers."

Larry Schuetzle was hanging in a pine tree by his playmates, a slip-knot around his neck. He was slowly strangling when his brother, Palmer, eight, passed by.

Unable to free his brother because the knot was too tight, Palmer summoned Mrs. Alex Gerlitz who lowered Larry to the ground and removed the rope.

Except for a bruised neck, Larry was unharmed.

Indian Say 'Howe'; Howe Say 'Uncle'

Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce and Defence Production, sporting an ornate headdress, enjoys dance with squaw at Belly Buttes, near Lethbridge. Milder Vaccine Aim of Doctors

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon-general of the United States, reports that several laboratories are attempting to find a milder but still effective anti-polio vaccine.

He says the Salk vaccine, used in field tests last year and given to larger numbers of children this year, contains "the Mahoney virus strain, a strain of type 1 virus that is 'highly antigenic but is also highly invasive.'"

A less invasive strain that still could produce sufficient antibodies to combat the polio virus would provide an additional margin of safety, he adds in an

LATE SPORT

TOKYO (UP)—Masaru Furukawa of Japan set a new world record of 2.33.7 for the 200-meter breakstroke tonight to highlight the opening session of the three-day U.S.-Japan meet.

Japan held a 14 to 9 lead in points at the end of the night's competition.

ADELAIDE, Australia (BUP)—Marjorie Jackson, former Australian Olympic sprint champion now married to Peter Nelson, said today she definitely will not attempt a comeback to track competition in order to compete in the 1956 games at Melbourne.

CHICAGO (UP)—Executive director Ben Lindheimer of Washington Park said today that the match race scheduled Aug. 31 between Swaps and Nashua "very definitely" would be televised and broadcast.

Cattle Auction

REGINA (CP)—Prices at the Commonwealth hereford sale here today are expected to run well above $3,000 for each of the 63 animals up for auction as cattle buyers from Canada and the United States select key animals for their herds.

Some show-ring officials said they wouldn't be surprised at individual sales of $15,000.

'Victim' Faces Accused In Prisoner Trial

NEW YORK (UP)—Sgt. James C. Gallagher faces all his court martial today, the American soldier whom he allegedly suggested be shot for sabotaging the Communist indoctrination program in an American prisoner of war camp in Korea.

Major J. J. Jenkins, trial counsel, said he would call to the witness stand Sgt. Lloyd W. Pate, commander of a "reactionary squad" in prisoner of war camp No. 3, near Changsong, North Korea, in 1952-53.

Gallagher, also accused of the unpremeditated murder of three fellow American prisoners and of collaborating with his Communist captors, allegedly told the Reds in February, 1952, they

CHURCHILL, MANITOBA, ROCKET LAUNCHING SITE

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—A report outlining plans to fire rockets 190 miles above the earth from North American points, including Churchill, Man., and New Mexico, was read to scientists Thursday at the International Astronautical Federation's sixth annual congress.

The paper, prepared by Homer Newell Jr., of the United States naval research laboratory, Washington, was part of a preview of experiments expected to be made during the international geophysical year which begins in July, 1957, when geophysicists of about 40 countries will make a vigorous study of the earth and its atmosphere.

U.S. Satellite Plan Feasible Says Expert

No Major Gap in Technical Knowledge For Launching of Man-Made Moon in 1957

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A famed government scientist said today the United States has no doubt it will succeed in its bold plan to send a tiny artificial satellite hurtling around the earth in 1957 or 1958.

Alan H. Shapley, a top adviser on the project, revealed in an interview that American experts already have most of the know-how to accomplish the feat that would have been branded impossible only a few years ago.

"The very fact that we made an announcement indicates that there is no major gap in our technical knowledge pertaining to the feasibility of the satellite project," he said.

The White House announced July 29 that the U.S. would rocket the artificial moon into space between 200 and 300 miles above the earth.

The project is part of the U.S. celebration of the international geophysical year from July, 1957, until December, 1958. Shapley, a leading authority on space and the upper atmosphere, is vice-chairman of the U.S. committee which was formed to make plans for the year. He formerly taught at Harvard and now is connected with the national bureau of standards at Boulder, Colo.

Shapley said the satellite project will bring man closer to the day when he will be able to cut his bonds with earth and explore the long-untraveled universe. But he said there is no way of telling exactly when this day will come.

"The (satellite) project will increase knowledge concerning the environment through which space ships will have to traverse," he said. "Such information must be obtained before a space flight, and in this way the satellite project is bringing space flight nearer."

But he emphasized the project does not actually involve space ships or the movement of human beings into the upper atmosphere.

"The scientific authorities studying the high atmosphere and near space are not in a position," he said, "to predict when human space flight might be possible."

BCE Awards Daisy Lake Dam Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $2,438,353 contract for construction of the Daisy Lake dam on the Cheakamus river has been awarded by B.C. Electric to Emil Anderson Construction Company.

Work on the dam, expected to employ 175 men, will get under way in 10 days and involves the building of a 500,000 cubic yard earth and rock dam, 2,000 feet long and 90 feet high about 23 miles north of Squamish.

Also to be built under the contract is a 3,000-foot diversion channel and tunnel intake. Waters of the Cheakamus river will be backed up to combine with Daisy lake and the surrounding swamp land to create a storage basin covering 1,000 acres.

This is the second contract to be let in the $25,000,000 project.

Canadians at Work

ONLY A FEW MONTHS AGO Canada was alarmed by a substantial unemployment problem. Undoubtedly it had been exaggerated by some politicians for partisan purposes and no one knew its precise dimensions. But it would certainly have been serious if it had continued. The Federal Government, refusing to be stampeded by some of the provinces, insisted that a winter slackness would be followed by a spring pick-up. So it has turned out.

The latest official figures show that unemployment fell during June to the lowest point since November, 1953. A total of 157,000 Canadians were seeking work that month as against 186,000 at the same time last year. Since April the problem has rapidly dissolved.

At the same time the total labor force of the nation has continued to expand, with a growing population. It now includes 5,615,000 workers as against 5,483,000 a year ago.

Thus unemployment represents less than three per cent of the labor force at midsummer. The general prosperity is no help to the people without jobs but in a flexible economy—especially in a nation like Canada now undergoing something like an industrial revolution—transitional unemployment in the present volume cannot be considered acute. At all events, the Federal Government has been proved right in believing, last winter, that a temporary fall in employment would end with the spring.

The problem has largely solved itself, for the time being, by the general recovery of the North American economy after the marginal recession of 1954 and without any massive intervention by the state.

Nevertheless, the Canadian climate, which slows down many forms of work during the winter, will produce another period of slackness in some regions before the next spring.

The long-run problem in Canada is to counteract this old cycle.

When the eleven governments of the nation meet in October they will consider this problem. While there can be no easy solution when some of our greatest industries must curtail work in cold weather, it is quite practical for other industries and for government also to improve the timing of their capital investment, to do some forms of construction in winter instead of summer. With advance planning much heavy winter road work is possible not only on this mild coast but even on the prairies and in the east. Houses and other buildings can be built throughout the year with modern methods.

The Federal Government has long been studying such a fundamental attack on winter unemployment through co-operation between public authorities and private business. It should be ready, at the autumn conference, to make some definite proposals along this line to the provinces.

Also, according to The Financial Post, Ottawa has been quietly planning large-scale capital investment on its own account, not as panic measures to meet temporary unemployment, but to expand the nation's operating plant as its population rises.

"A buoyant and expansionist outlook has taken hold of government thinking," The Post reports. "It is now firmly based on the idea that Canada's population will grow tremendously in the next half century and that public services must match that growth. . . . Public investment is being viewed not just as a make-work expedient but as a long-term program." Its purpose is to meet future needs of a growing economy and to keep the economy going full tilt by flexible timing of expenditures.

This is encouraging news and marks a satisfactory change from the somewhat unrealistic thinking of last winter.

Release of the Eleven

TO FOUR UNITED STATES AIR-men recently released from imprisonment, Red China has now added another eleven. These were men captured two and a half years ago while on a mission over Korea who obviously should have been repatriated at the close of the war, along with other prisoners.

That they are only now being restored to their homes reflects little credit on the Chinese communists. The Peiping regime is not doing anything that merits gratitude or admiration. It is merely breaking even with an act that should have been carried out long ago. The West will feel only relief—and sympathy for the long-imprisoned victims.

The Chinese pretext, of course, was that the airmen had been spying on China. For this they had been sentenced to prison terms. But there is no doubt that the charges were trumped up. They have been vigorously denied by the United States; the forced "confessions" have been repudiated by the released men.

Peiping conformed to an old communist practice in holding Western hostages. It has been done by Russia and its satellites and it has had some success as a manoeuvre since the life of the individual is valued by the West but given small importance by dictatorships.

At the present time, progress in the Geneva talks between the United States and Red China is stalled by delay in arrangements for return of forty civilian Americans believed still held by Peiping. The United States has made this a condition of any settlement with Red China, and it may well be that in an effort to obtain concessions from the West the Chinese will agree to the release.

If so a long step will have been taken toward possible agreement on other problems. Little real advance can be made while U.S. citizens are held as pawns in power politics.

Why Butter Is Dear

MANY CANADIANS, WHO EAT butter if they can afford it or margarine if they can't, must be baffled by Mr. Gardiner's recent butter deal with Czechoslovakia. Actually, the explanation is quite simple.

Mr. Gardiner is holding up the price of butter in Canada to protect the dairymen. The Canadian price is some 18 cents a pound above the going world price—the price, that is, which would prevail in Canada without the Government's price-support policy.

In holding up the price the Government has been compelled to buy millions of pounds of Canadian butter from the dairymen. This butter cannot be stored indefinitely or it will deteriorate.

Finding himself with a huge supply on his hands, Mr. Gardiner sells butter to Czechoslovakia and there he can ask only the going world price. The foreign importer naturally will not pay the higher Canadian price when he can secure a lower price in other butter-exporting countries.

The result is that the Canadian householder must first pay an artificially high price for butter or eat margarine. Secondly, as a taxpayer, the householder, whatever he eats, must pay the losses incurred in the sale of so-called surplus butter to Czechoslovakia. This week the domestic price was raised another two cents, to 58 cents.

How, it is asked, can the Canadian Government thus rig the Canadian butter market? It can do so only by restricting and, indeed virtually eliminating butter imports into Canada. If foreign butter could move into Canada without restriction then, of course, it would be sold here at the world price. The price of all butter, imported and domestic, would fall to that level.

Mr. Gardiner is not satisfied with a tariff on butter to discourage imports. He has managed to place all imports on a licensing system. No butter can be imported without a government license, which really means the personal consent of Mr. Gardiner. No license is ever issued except when Canada is suffering an infrequent over-all butter shortage, or what Mr. Gardiner chooses to consider a shortage.

Thus the minister of agriculture has complete control over the price of butter sold in Canada. He has held it high enough to satisfy the dairymen and so high that millions of Canadians cannot or will not pay it. They eat margarine instead.

When this artificial price structure threatens to break down, when Mr. Gardiner has more butter in storage than he can sell in Canada, he sells it at a lower price to a foreign country and the taxpayers make up the loss.

Actually there is no butter surplus in Canada. If Mr. Gardiner's price were reduced he would have no trouble selling his butter. Millions of Canadians are eager to buy it. But Mr. Gardiner and the dairy industry are encouraging, indeed compelling the sale of margarine instead of butter when every dairyman in the country regards margarine as the chief danger to his prosperity.

Alice and the economists of Wonderland never invented a more unlikely arrangement. Yet the Canadian Government, now actually subsidizing the export of butter to Czechoslovakia, is never tired of complaining when the American Government does the same sort of thing with wheat and other farm products.

Scythe With Two Blades

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

WELL, my little rose-growers and rose-lovers and Gertrude Stein and Fair Rosie and all, have great news for you about roses. I have just been reading the quarterly "Plants and Gardens" issued by the Brooklyn Botanic Garden (which knows a thing or two about gardens). The summer issue for this year is devoted entirely to roses, and is edited by Richard Thomson (who knows a thing or two about roses). He is chairman of the Old Rose Society, director of the Philadelphia Rose Society; accredited judge of the American Rose Society. And he was the man invited by the Brooklyn Botanic Garden to get out this very special issue. So you had better believe him.

Brock

ALL right, then. Get ready to believe. Mr. Thomson says: "More roses have been killed by over-fertilizing than from any other cause." Laugh that off, you chaps who tell me that roses are glutinous and will lap up the nitrogen, phosphate, and potash like a vacuum cleaner.

Mr. Thomson says "Small amounts of commercial fertilizer may be used after the plants have been established for several months, but be sure to use one-quarter to one-half of the manufacturer's recommendation. (The manufacturer will hate me for this.) If your rose seems to be in trouble, try more water, not fertilizer."

"Water," he says, "is the best fertilizer for roses and must be used very freely. Water the ground, not the plants. Water on the foliage will induce disease, and does the roots no good in any case. Allow the hose to run gently on the ground until the soil is soaked to a depth of at least a foot (probably at least half an hour) before moving it to a new location. During spring and fall rains, obviously, less artificial watering is needed, but during summer drought, copious water is needed if bloom and growth are to be maintained."

Ha! Water, not chemicals. Wait till I spread this alarming bit of news around the neighborhood. Any neighbor who doesn't like my telling him things is a bad neighbor. He is doubly bad to resent it when I tell him how to save money on fertilizer.

MR. THOMSON had some more ideas which were new to me. . . . though I was beginning to suspect some of them. I dare say they are old stuff to you. For example, he says roses do NOT need an open spot with sun all day. He considers five hours of sun a workable minimum. Also, he says that once a rose is established, it can compete very nicely with the roots of most shrubs and trees, even in close contact with them. Ha! I have been called a simpleton for hinting at such a thing. He does not mean, of course, that you should plant a rose among the matted roots of other plants. But with fair competition it will look after itself. Well, these things are interesting enough. But they are nothing to the news that fertilizer kills more roses than does anything else. Hooray, hooray, hooray. I haven't laughed so hard since I killed our quince tree with a wonder hormone.

NOT SCHIZOID ENOUGH

I WAS speaking about this being a rather sissified and self-pampered age, and a friend of mine wrote to say "It seems to me people now are one in themselves, not two; they cannot say to that other weaker self 'You SHALL face this or that' . . . they are one self only, soft and will-less . . . except, of course, now and again, you read of matchless, selfless courage still."

She said much more. But after I finished her letter, what remained with me most vividly was her notion that a single personality, all of a piece, can be a flabby, grey, decadent thing, while a divided one can be healthy, leading to self-mastery. What we need is more split personalities! And she may well be right. You will remember that only a few years ago, the great Dr. Jung said he was sorry he ever cured inner conflicts as a matter of course. If you make a chap simpler and all of a piece, he may turn out to be simple in the wrong way, and since he no longer picks fights with himself he picks fights with everyone else instead.

AND you will remember that psychiatrist in Los Angeles . . . may his tribe increase . . . who says it is very bad for children not to be thwarted and frustrated and blocked and punished and so on. If they have things all their own way, which—used to be called being "spoiled," they fail to grow up. And when they meet grown-up realities, they are apt to become criminals or lunatics or both. Hooray. Some of us were saying exactly these things a long time ago . . . and in print, too. But I'm sorry I never thought of that one about a unified, integrated personality being a bad and flabby thing. I now offer public thanks to a friend for the gift of this attractive theory. It's a hulu, and should annoy quite a few of the unified blokes.

AN IMPOSITION

I WAS listening to three mothers, who have ten children between them. They all agreed it is an awful thing to "impose your ideas on a child." The child's ideas should be all his little own, etc., etc., etc. In other words, I suppose, he should remain a baby. And even remain speechless, since the language is an idea imposed on him from without. You do not draw the language out of a child, you put it into him. And thus with most other things too, I'm afraid. One of these same three mothers envied my children their sense of humor and their irony. That too was put in. With I hope, discretion.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

There has been a tremendous response to our appeal for used Christmas cards, and many packages have been received from readers of your paper.

Until we can send letters of acknowledgment to all, would you please insert a letter of thanks so that it will be known that we do appreciate the very welcome gifts of used Christmas cards each year.

BOUQUET

I wish to write you regarding the very efficient police department of Victoria. One week ago today we left our home for a vacation trip to B.C. I instructed my daughter before leaving, in case of any accident or sickness, to notify the department of public safety in Victoria. This afternoon we were stopped by the police department, informing us of sickness which had occurred at our home. Again I would like to thank the police for this very fine co-operation.

REGRUDGES VETS CHAPEL

On Aug. 2 the Times on page 11 mentions that the federal government is going to build a $40,000 chapel at the Veterans' Hospital at Victoria. I thought that there was "separation of state and church" in Canada, notwithstanding all the special privileges, camouflaged or otherwise, which are bestowed on these private undertakings.

Evidently I have been mistaken, where taxpayers' money—and everybody is a federal taxpayer, even though he or she may not have enough income to pay in—this being used to make it easier for this so-called religious fraternity to bamboozle the gullible. Those $40,000 surely could be used for a better purpose for the people in general than for propagandizing churchliness.

What next in churchridden Canada?

LET'S PROTECT THE BIRDS

Falconry definitely should be banned. If you have travelled in these countries where falconry is allowed it's evident that there is a scarcity of birds. Here we are in this American continent trying every possible device to rid our country of insect pests, and at the same time having the fox or the wolf of the bird world encouraged in his killing beautiful birds.

Perhaps to Mr. Beebe pigeons mean nothing, but if he visited the Shrine in Edinburgh, Scotland, he would find there the carving of the pigeon. Yes, in memory of these feathered friends who helped win the 1914-1918 war. A visit to Salt Lake City Temple Gardens would show him the Monument to the Seagulls. At the time of Brigham Young these seagulls devoured the locusts which threatened the life of the people because all the crops would have been eaten. Seagulls have never been known to be so far inland in these days, so the prayers of the Mormons were answered, and the Temple Gardens have this beautiful carving of the seagull.

When we study all the birds which are extinct, and how few woodpeckers etc. we see around, it would be wise for future generations to help the protection of our wild life, and not permit the destruction of our birds.

I feel certain that Peter Scott who paints our Canadian marsh birds so beautifully would agree with me. The falcon like the eagle, the hawk and the buzzard are all of the one family, perhaps not so spirited as the falcons, but all killers in the woods and the forests.

Canada has a long list of birds which are now extinct, like the Carrier Pigeon etc. killed by hawks. Victoria has a most attractive sticker "Follow the Birds to Victoria." Now let's protect the birds.

KEEP A STOMACH PUMP HANDY

To those anxious to add to our multiplicity of grandmotherly laws I would like to ask—where will you stop? You cannot legislate against every conceivable hazard that man may encounter, and, if it were done here, what sort of creatures would we Canadians grow up to be? We would be like those sheltered house dogs which, if they ever get away from their owners' protection and slip out on the street, get run over.

Because a child ate some laburnum seeds there is a proposal that there should be a law against growing laburnums. We already may be placed in jeopardy of the law if we grow poppies in our gardens—this, of course, connotes an opium factory in the basement—and if we dare to take a bottle of beer and drink it at a picnic, we render ourselves liable to be fined or jailed.

Is it not about time we Canadians ceased to provide material for leers from those who come from—how shall I describe them?—well, less protected lands? By all means protect the children, but do let us maintain some sense of proportion. What a vast number of natural and manufactured products would have to be banned by law if this hazard of children's urge to put things into their mouths were to be lessened? Note, lessened. The hazard would never be finally eliminated.

NOUGH SAID!

Since the basic "ough" bothers so many foreign students (and our own) particularly French, I submit this version of twelve examples for illustration in teaching English. "A rough-coated, dough-faced ploughman strode thoughtfully through the streets of the borough beneath the overhanging boughs, while coughing and hiccupping thoroughly when he ought to have been tougher."

PUBLIC SPANKING

I am in agreement with Police Commissioner W. J. Hamilton's suggestion of public paddling—(though it is obscure as to what public means)—of young offenders convicted of damaging personal property and of vandalism and what can endanger people—besides car thefts, etc. It would be far better than branding them by a prison stigma, risking their becoming hardened criminals and feeling important having done time. I also think they should have to pay for damage by earnings.

A paddling done under careful supervision, severe enough but not to risk injury, and the humiliation would be much the most effective deterrent for youths in general—with few exceptions. There would not be so many, if parents punished, by a spanking calmly done, not in a temper, young children caught throwing stones and taking axes, hammers and guns to play with.

Wickedness in the Woods

BY JOHN WINDSOR

THE season is here when fishing rods are assembled and guns fondled lovingly, as that primitive creature we so quaintly call a sportsman, comes into his own again.

I had better confess that once I almost became a sportsman myself. After much reflection I had decided to become a fisherman, so one morning, or rather, in the middle of the night, I crawled unhappily from a comfortable bed and went off shivering to face a cold wet dawn in an open boat. To an enquiry of mine as to whether it was not a little cruel and unsporting to try and plant a barbed hook in the mouth of any creature, I was assured that fish, being cold blooded, felt no pain. Besides, they rather enjoyed putting up a good fight as it was a break in the monotony of their otherwise dull lives.

After several hours of Spartan enjoyment, still cold and empty-handed, we made for the dock where I left my friend after thanking him for the enjoyable time I had had. He actually believed me and suggested our doing it again.

COMPULSION TO KILL

What is this compulsion that causes us to track down and kill creatures of the wild. Stripped of the glamour about strong outdoor types, or the myth about how it builds character, these blood sports are nothing more than an instinct inherited from our sub-human ancestors, the instinct to hunt and kill for the pure joy of killing anything weaker than ourselves.

Even as children the urge is in us. As boys we would roam the prairies, shooting gophers and small birds. It was not to improve our marksmanship, as we could have done that more efficiently with a target. No, it was just the primeval blood lust in us. The only difference was that we never thought to dub ourselves as sportsmen.

Of course, the rod and gun men will not admit to this historical explanation of their actions. They will claim that they are hunting for food, but don't you believe it. Being a meat eater myself, I subscribe to the rather one-sided theory that animals are placed here to provide food for us, so I have no argument with those who really do hunt for food, but this doesn't include the sportsman. With the money his sport cost him, his wife could provide far more meat from the butchers than his gun will ever bring in.

Then there is the argument that herds must be thinned out to prevent starvation and sickness. Whilst this is true, how does it take place? Some trigger-happy citizen obtains a gun and departs for the woods, to blaze away at anything that moves. Sometimes it is another hunter, but usually it is a deer or other intended victim. Only too often they do not have the mercy of a quick death, but drag themselves away to die slowly and painfully, because the hunter is unable, or unwilling, to track them down and finish the business.

The necessary killing of animals should not be an amusement for bunglers, but a job for game wardens and those who are prepared to submit to rigorous tests of their marksmanship and woodcraft before being allowed to take life.

CAMERA FOR RIFLE

Could we not substitute a camera for a rifle in our hunting. Surely there is more pleasure to be got from photographs of these creatures, rather than bringing their corpses back flung across our car's engine, or a mass of bloody and crumpled feathers. As for those who still demand killing, I would suggest they go after grizzly bears, armed with a light bow and arrow or a hunting spear. They would probably have a 60 per cent chance of getting their bear, not bad odds, whilst the bear would have a 40 per cent chance of getting his man.

It would be a pleasant change to find the mounted head of a hunter occupying a place of honor in some bear's cave. Depending on the geographical location and the size of the purse, this idea might be varied to include lions, tigers, and rogue elephants.

Finally Sportsmen, before you snarl and reach for your guns, I should like to advise that there is a closed season on John Windsor.

BETROTHALS BY TV

Inspectaculars are specially made for parents with marriageable daughters. Parents: why send your daughter to Florida, Europe or the Mountains, to meet some eligible bachelor or a rich husband? Block TV will make a pilot film of your daughter, showing her front view, side view, sewing, cooking, etc. Also long shots of the father going to the bank, a shot of mother getting into the station wagon (station wagons and banks may be rented). Once we make the pilot film, parents, your work is over!

We will send the film to Florida, Europe, and the Mountains.

Also to Republican Clubs throughout the nation, and in extreme cases the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

$15 TV Licence CBC Solution?

When Tax on Sets Dwindles Network Will Need More Money

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
OTTAWA (CP) — Revenue equivalent to a $15-a-year licence fee on television receiving sets is suggested in some CBC circles as a possible solution to the money problems of the publicly-owned corporation.

It is highly questionable, however, that any politically astute government would levy such a fee from television-viewing Canadians, who now pay no licence fee.

Even the $2.50 radio licence tab, eliminated two years ago, was unpopular.

The government and the CBC have said those who receive the national-TV service should pay for it. That principle was cited as the basis for the present 15 per cent excise tax on radio and television sets and parts.

The CBC believes revenue from that tax will start dwindling, and that it therefore must find a steadier source of income.

Where lies the answer to its financial problems—an estimated $10,000,000 or more deficit this year—the CBC will not say definitely.

Officials say it is up to the government to decide how the CBC and its radio and television national services shall be financed.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, has said the corporation could not operate its present services solely on commercial revenue.

Perhaps the answer will come from an investigating body on broadcasting that the government proposes to set up in the near future.

Rising costs of television broadcasting is held responsible by the CBC for its unbalanced financial position forecast for next year.

Mr. Dunton has estimated it costs the CBC an additional $100,000 each time a new privately-owned TV station goes on the air. The CBC supplies private stations with more than 30 hours a week of program as part of the national service.

The CBC's own estimated potential of sets in Canada is roughly 3,000,000. Revenue of $15 a set would bring in $45,000,000. Forecast expenditures this year for both radio and TV are $42,200,000.

There now are an estimated 1,500,000 sets in use, which would bring in $22,500,000. However, the saturation point for the 26 publicly and privately-owned stations now in operation is estimated at 2,250,000 sets—a potential revenue of $33,750,000.

U.S. Proposes UN Publish A-Test Effects

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States has proposed that the United Nations collect and publish information on the effects of atomic radiation on human health.

Presumably most of the data would come from the U.S., Britain and Russia—the only countries to have conducted atomic bomb tests—and from Japanese scientists who studied the fishermen victims of the Bikini fall-out last year.

In a letter and memorandum delivered Thursday to the office of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate, urged that the next UN assembly vote the study.

NEXT SESSION SEPT. 20

The letter asked that the assembly include on its agenda for the session opening Sept. 20 this item: "Co-ordination of information relating to the effects of atomic radiation upon human health and safety."

The letter said the U.S. government recognizes that "widespread concern" exists over the question but added that information available to Washington indicates that properly conducted nuclear tests do not constitute a threat to the world's population.

U.K. Would Import Europe Coal Miners

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of Britain's miners met here today to discuss a controversial plan to import Italian and Austrian workers into the country's nationalized coal mines to overcome an acute manpower crisis.

The plan has been put forward by the government's national coal shortage next winter unless 20,000 more men are sent into the mines before the end of the year.

Executive leaders of the 670,000 National Union of Mineworkers called a special meeting this morning to decide on their reaction. If the executive leaders agree to the project, mine leaders will put the issue to local votes. Some branch officials have already expressed strong opposition.

IKE'S HEALTH FACTOR IN DECISION TO RUN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower indicated Thursday that health will be a factor in his decision whether to seek a second term.

The president told a press conference he probably could make up his mind right now if he could foresee the 1956 world and domestic situation "and my own situation, including the way I felt."

But, Eisenhower said: "I have not the gift of prophecy."

HEY, FELLAS, WHAT'S THIS?

It finally happened. After three fruitless attempts, a girls' lacrosse team achieved the improbable at Stevenson Park Thursday by defeating the cream of the boys' pee-wee division, 8-7, in an exhibition lacrosse game.

The girls spread scoring honors around fairly evenly, while John Hanson led the pee-wees with three goals.

Ontario Assured Of Cricket Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ontario defeated Manitoba by 127 runs Thursday to retain the Canadian cricket championship. It was the fourth straight victory for the eastern side and assured them of no worse than a tie in the standings with two matches remaining.

A tie would leave Ontario with the title. British Columbia, nearest rival of Ontario, suffered defeat as Alberta beat the West Coast team by five wickets. The two western teams now are tied with two wins and two losses each. Manitoba has lost all its games.

Ontario, running to an easy victory over the luckless Manitobans, scored the highest score of the tournament so far—238, for seven wickets declared. Manitoba scored 111.

Second highest score was tallied by B.C. Tuesday—221 for eight wickets, also against Manitoba.

Peter Cullimore led the Albertans to victory as he defied all changes in bowling and ran the score to 32 before being caught. Later Roy Robbins joined Cullimore, making 15 not out and Cullimore 27 not out for the victory.

Marys Take Second Place
Eric Helgeson's valuable two-run double in the fifth inning gave Mary's Coffee Bar a 2-1 victory over Foresters Thursday night and clinched second place in the Senior B Softball League standings.

The victory also meant that Mary's will meet Foresters in one half of the league semi-finals which open Sunday, while Esquimalt, transposed from second to third by Mary's victory, will take on first-place Trade-Ats in the other semi-final.

On Sunday at Heywood Park, Trade-Ats open the semi-finals with Esquimalt at 2 while Mary's and Foresters start their round at 5:30.

Oak Bay Plays Tie With Cafemen
Oak Bay Shamrocks and Strathcona Cafe battled to a 5-5 tie at Carnarvon Park Thursday night in a juvenile lacrosse league game.

Strathcona Cafe led, 2-1, at half time, but were behind, 3-2, entering the final period of the see-saw contest. They scored three goals in the fourth quarter to the Bay's two, to gain the deadlock.

Jack Showers and Jack Wilson carried most of the scoring punch for Oak Bay, scoring two goals apiece, while Tom Collett scored twice for the Cafemen.

Tee Topics

By BILL WALKER

"She's so far ahead of us, isn't she?"

The speaker was Shirley Naysmith, who had just completed her first round in the Canadian Close golf championship, a round in which she was drawn with defending Marlene Stewart, the queen of the links.

Naturally Shirley was speaking of Marlene.

"Oh, but she does things so easily and hits that ball so well," added Shirley.

Shirley wasn't offering any excuses. Far from it. She was expressing the thought that many others harbor but keep to themselves.

And this was after Shirley had experienced a terrible round for her. A 92 it was, but as Shirley said: "I enjoyed it. I played badly, but I can truthfully say that I enjoyed the match as much as any other I have ever played in."

That, to us, is a sparkling tribute to Marlene, and to Shirley, for such a sportsman-like approach when she could have tossed a club or two and probably felt good doing it.

And about Marlene. She has a determined approach to the game, but it's not that intense that she won't pass the time of day with an on-looker.

She has the happy faculty of being able to relax even as the pressure mounts. Or that, champions are made.

Bill's Past Revealed

There's a story, too, about Bill Court, the Colwood professional, that comes this way.

It seems that several years ago Bill was holidaying with some chums in the States when they happened upon Portland where a bicycle race was being held that day.

Bill entered and won. But when he couldn't prove he wasn't a professional, he was denied the championship to commemorate his victory.

"Those were the days," said Bill when confronted with the yarn. And that was the era (1938) when Bill rode with fellows like Torchy Peden, Lew Rush, Claude Peden.

But back to the girls—this is their week.

Longest hitter? Rae Milligan, when she connects, as she wasn't doing Thursday. Straightest hitter, Marlene Stewart, even when putting. She's bold. Most natty attired team—the Manitoba team, in canary yellow (we think).

She looked like a grade-school student who had wandered onto the course with the crowd. That was Little Judy Darling of the Quebec provincial team. Little taller than her bag of clubs and certainly the cutest trick you ever saw with a club in her hands, Miss Darling checked in with an 82.

BUNKER BLASTS—Like a husband's vacation the tournament is to Sheila Collins of Hamilton, a reporter on the Hamilton Spectator, Sheila shot an 83 Thursday then sat down and wrote about it. That's tough. . . . Kate Farrell who calls herself "one of the whites" says of the Canadian tournament "no, I was never in this class"; but she was really, a few years ago, "that's where the whites" come in, the girls with the silvery locks having their own private little corner in a field dominated by youngsters.

And how about a tip of the hat to the B.C. Willingdon Cup team. . . . The provincial unit won hands down in the men's inter-provincial at Calgary. . . . Bill McColl went to the fourth round and the other three members. . . . Lyle Crawford, Doug Bajus and Bob Kidd to the semifinals of the Amateur. You can't ask for and get much better than that out of a four-man team; now can you? . . . The girls in the Close have a new name for pro Bill Court; it's "PINKY" because of his fondness for the color in his dress. . . . A busy heaver Thursday was Jack Todd, husband of Margaret. . . . Jack has been given the assignment of taking movies of the tournament for the CLGU. . . . When is the preview, Jack?

And somehow the item got lost in the tizzy of the ladies' tourney. . . . Frank Scroggs retained his Uplands tie title this week with a 6 and 5 triumph over Gil Briscoe.

A Dime in Time . . .

Clutched in the hand of Ontario's Marlene Stewart is the dime which she hopes will "pay" her way to her fifth successive Canadian Ladies' Close Golf Championship. Slightly superstitious, Marlene used that dime to mark her ball on the greens Thursday while she was firing a record-breaking 75 to take the lead in the first round of the Close. And you can bet it will be a thin dime by the time the Close and the Canadian Ladies' Open are completed, one week Saturday. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

CLEANERS TAKE LEAD IN SOFTBALL FINALS

Two-hit pitching by Jocelyn Richmond and lusty hitting by Louise Heal and Mickey Couch gave individual Cleaners a 10-2 victory over Copley Brothers Thursday night in the first game of the Women's Softball League playoffs at lower Central Park.

Miss Richmond lacked her usual pin-point control, walking 10, but she struck out 10 and gave up only two singles.

Miss Heal rapped out three singles and collected a walk in three tries and Miss Couch had two singles and a double.

City Rink Captures Ladies' Bowling Title

Victoria drew first blood Thursday in championship play in Victoria Lawn Bowling Association's 28th annual tournament.

Mrs. Gertrude Butterfield of Victoria Lawn Bowling Club won the women's singles title Thursday night at Canadian Pacific greens by besting Mrs. C. Rumball of Vancouver Terminal Club, 16-12, in a hotly-contested final.

The victory gave Mrs. Butterfield possession of the James MacMartin Cup, won last year by Mrs. A. Stewart of Burnside.

In the men's singles, the crowning of a Mainland champion was assured when T. Owens of West Point Grey, Vancouver, defeated H. Thornercroft of Nanaimo, 16-2, Thursday. Owens will now meet J. Hazlett of White Rock in the final Saturday morning.

Thornercroft had previously advanced into the semi-finals Thursday by downing H. Davies, Canadian Pacific, 15-8.

In the men's rinks, Fort Garry Cup competition, Colin Ward of Canadian Pacific downed Charlie Foe of Burnside, 20-8, to advance into the final against Archie Finlay, Victoria West.

The men's doubles competition reached quarter-final and semi-final stages Thursday, with the finalists to be named today.

In the Martin Cup primary, E. Myers and Lou Thomas of Tacoma moved into the final round with an extra-end victory over Bull and Hamilton of Beahill. Baker and Evans, Canadian Pacific, defeated Foe and Beck, Burnside, in a quarter-final match Thursday.

Walter Cross Bowl doubles competition moved into the final stages today after a semi-final win by A. Inglis and A. Morrison of White Rock over Baker and Hiquiebran of Victoria West. In a quarter-final match, Ferris and Middleton, Tacoma, eliminated H. Martin and H. Tuck of Nanaimo.

Today, the mixed rinks competition and the final eliminations in the other events will be held on the five city greens. Remaining finals will be played at Victoria Lawn Bowling Club Saturday morning at 9:30.

Students Close Gap On Playoff Berth
Chinese Students moved a little closer to clinching a playoff berth in the Senior A Men's Softball League when they eked out a loose 9-8 win over United Services at Central Park Thursday night.

The win put Students eight points up on the last place Services team and the latter will have to win all their remaining games while Students drop six of their last seven games, in order for Services to enter the playoffs.

Both teams were off color Friday and no less than 12 errors were committed in the game.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle that was tied, 6-6, after four innings and 7-7 after six innings. Students grabbed an 8-7 lead with a single run in their half of the seventh but the dogged Services club bounced back with the tying run in the top of the ninth, scored on two errors.

In Students' half of the ninth,

There was more fear than joy in the camp of the Victoria Shamrocks today, following their 13-9 victory over New Westminster Salmonbellies Thursday night in New Westminster.

It was the first time Rocks have beaten Bellies on their home floor without benefit of overtime but the fruits of victory were soured by an injury, possibly serious, to team captain Whitney Severson.

Severson was crashed into the end boards by New Westminster goalie Harry Preston and it is feared the blond playmaker is suffering from a separated shoulder.

Severson was scheduled for X-rays today to determine the extent of the injury but it is almost certain he will miss two or three games. If the injury is worse than expected, he may not be at full efficiency for the league playoffs, which start August 15.

UHEARN SUSPENDED
On Saturday night at Nanaimo, Severson will be on the bench with Nip O'Hearn. The rugged defenseman eliminated himself from Saturday's big game with Nanaimo Timbermen by drawing a match penalty at New Westminster. The penalty, for talking back to referee Ernie Smith, carries an automatic one-game suspension.

Jumbo Jim Hetherington was the unexpected hero of Thursday's game. Called into emergency duty to replace Gordy Johnston, who hurt his leg Wednesday night, Hetherington turned in a top-notch game in the Rock nets, giving up only one goal in the second half after eight in the first half.

The stand-in net custodian blocked 35 of the 44 shots New Westminster heaved at him.

The clubs were tied, 8-8, at the half but Hetherington's solid work in the second half gave Rocks the advantage.

Offensively, Al Gill, Jack Northup, Al Davies and Bob Dobbie led the Rocks with two goals each. New Westminster's always dangerous Cliff Sepka scored four of his club's nine goals.

Marlene 'Pretty Good' While Rae 'Struggled'

Canada's Top Golfers Find Colwood Tough

By BILL WALKER

The little gal with the big swing brushed off Thursday's 75 in the opening round of the Canadian Ladies' Close golf championships as "pretty good."

That's how Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., explained her two-under-par round which set a new competitive course record for ladies at the Colwood Golf and Country Club.

The bigger gal with the bigger swing said, "I just struggled."

That's how Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta., annoyingly remarked of her 79, two over par, and the closest thing to Miss Stewart in the Close tournament which Miss Stewart is defending.

These were the two big names and this was the contrast Thursday as the two favorites for the title ran one, two, as they are today heading into the second round of the 54-hole tourney which concludes Saturday.

Miss Stewart was near perfect from tee to green, except for a double bogey six on the first hole when she pushed her second shot into the trees.

Miss Milligan was "scrambling," she admitted. "I only had two good tee shots all day," she commented, then added, "yet, I got four birdies."

13 PARS, 4 BIRDS
Miss Stewart had 13 pars and four birdies in her round, and "I was hitting my woods well."

Miss Milligan said: "It was my woods—the best part of my game usually—where I fell down."

These were the stars, and the names. But then there was Marlene Wach, a junior from Winnipeg. Unheralded, she slipped in with an 81, parring the tougher back nine in 40 after being four over at the turn.

She led such established players as Edmonton's Betty Stanhope, Miss Ruth Wilson of Vancouver, and yet another junior, and the tiniest competitor of them all, Judy Darling of Hudson Heights, Que. All had 82s.

Putter-trouble bothered Miss Stanhope who three putted three greens. Three over at the end of four holes, she managed a 1 on the first nine and but for two of those three-putt greens on 13 and 15 might have broken par coming home.

Miss Mary Gay of Kitchener, had an 83, as did Miss Joan Goulet of Regina, another junior.

And out of the running already, it seems, are such players as Marg Duff of the city, 87; Dot Herbertson, 87; city titlist Shirley Naysmith, 92; Mrs. D. Rhys-Jones, 90; Elizabeth McIntyre, 87.

The Ontario team took the lead in the inter-provincial team matches with a 340 aggregate to runner-up Quebec's 341. B.C. is third at 344, the two Vancouver girls on the team, Mrs. E. L. Buchanan and Miss Sheila Ross, outshining their Victoria compatriots with scores of 86 and 84 respectively.

The B.C. juniors also had their troubles, provincial champion Sheila Whittall taking a 96 and Pat Reid a 116.

The Quebec team could give Ontario a battle for team honors today. One stroke back, they had as their high team member Thursday Quebec champion Joyce Alston who experienced six three-putt greens. Miss Alston took an 88 with a 47 on the back nine.

In the main, scores soared with only 11 golfers doing better than 85, eight over par.

But by today the ladies should have settled down to a more familiar routine, or at Mrs. A. K. Snell of the Alberta team said of her 97: "That's the worst round of golf I've ever shot in competition as a team member."

THREE FOR FOUR

B.C. Golfers Enter Semis

By TED MOSER, Canadian Press Staff Writer
CALGARY (CP)—For the first time in four years a Canadian will win the Canadian Amateur golf championship.

And unless nonchalant Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont., comes through, the champion will be from Vancouver.

Three of the four golfers who tee off this morning to start the 36-hole semifinals are Vancouverites — Lyle Crawford, Doug Bajus and Bob Kidd.

The last Canadian to hold the crown, Walt McElroy, also was from Vancouver. He won at the Royal Ottawa in 1951.

Crawford is playing Kidd today in one match, and Norman and Bajus are touring the Calgary Golf and Country Club in the other. The winners square off in the 36-hole final Saturday.

WINS AFTER THRILLER
Crawford, only Canadian to reach the semifinals in last year's amateur took out favored Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla. in a 20-hole thriller in the quarter-finals Thursday.

Norman went 20 holes with Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., a long-ball hitter, before winning the 20th when the American went over par.

Bajus sidelined Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., in the only fifth-round match completed without extra holes, and Bob Kidd of Vancouver took the measure of Nick Westlock of Windsor, Ont., in a 22-hole duel.

The defeat of the two Americans took out the last of the 12 original U.S. entries.

Bisplinghoff was one up on the 17th but lost his lead when he missed an 18-inch putt on the 145-yard 20th. He came out of a trap 20 feet short and needed two putts for a one-over-par four. Crawford also landed in a bunker with his tee shot, but recovered to within three feet for a par to win the hole and the match.

Norman had to fight with Manley all the way to win his match. The lead swung back and forth between the two and ended all even at the 18th. Both

OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

Poor E. C. It will probably be years before his fishing chums let him forget about it.

You see, E. C. has a consuming passion for salmon fishing that is surpassed only by his passion for flashy looking boats. The combination caused him no end of embarrassment recently during a Saanich Inlet jaunt.

There is this group of fellows who fish together and E. C. is one of them. They kid each other around a lot but they all are accomplished anglers. You see their names in the paper quite often.

Boyd

Anyway, on this particular day, they were leaving the boathouse and were beginning to rig up when a rakish cabin cruiser, the kind that makes E. C. drool, roared by, tossing up a sparkling bow wave.

When this happened, E. C. was in the process of splicing a Strip-Teaser on his line. He looked up, saw the cabin cruiser and his eyes bulged out. "Look," he said reverently, "just look at that beautiful thing."

And while E. C. and his mates finished getting their tackle ready and into the water, E. C. kept stealing fond glances at the beautiful craft ahead of them. They trolled and trolled, with E. C. paying more attention to the front-running cruiser in front than to his tackle.

After a lengthy period of fruitless trolling, E. C. pulled in his line to check for weeds. He was somewhat mortified, thanks to his ship-mates, when it was discovered he had forgotten to put a herring strip in his Strip-Teaser because his mind had been occupied by the cabin cruiser when he was rigging up.

Of course, there was the story about C.G. and the 12-pounder he dropped over the side of a jetty while cleaning it. It disappeared into 20 feet of water. C. G. has a motto that it is not right to take fish if you do not eat them or give them away. So C. G. probed for his fish with a pike pole, located it, stripped to bare essentials and dove for his fish, bringing it up on the first try.

BRIEFLY, NOW—If you aren't on the ladder yet, here are a couple of the tips passed on to us on how to grab off a rung in the few remaining fishing hours. Fish from McCurdy's Point, up past Bamberton to the Mill Bay Spar. Jim Hetherington says he sees fish boiling in those waters every day. On the other hand, we hear that one of the Inlet guides is doing most of his fishing near the bottom at Mill Bay with great success. Finally, Stan Williams says: "If you're not on yet, fish from Ardmore to Deep Cove and you'll get on with a coho." See you at one of these places Saturday. It's getting late. . . It looks like the coho are coming in everywhere now and bucktail season is almost upon us. Nine coho and a spring came into the Oak Bay Boathouse Tuesday night. They were picked up around Fiddler's Reef, Jimmy Chicken Island and in front of the boathouse. . . In the Cowichan Bay area, Cherry Point is producing silvers from 59 pounds to the Squid plug, Tom Mack spoon and two to four ounces of weight. Hundreds of grilse also grabbing lures. . . Separation Point is turning up cohos to herring strip anglers. . . Parksville and Qualicum are definitely hot and fish are available at Sidney Spit and East Point. . . Coho are running up to 11 pounds at Campbell River with limits not exceptional.

World Record
MILAN, Italy (AP)—Donato Piazza of Italy bettered the 5,000-metre world cycling record Thursday, covering the distance in 6 minutes 17.4 seconds.
The previous record belonged to another Italian, Fabio Battesini, who was timed at 6.21 in 1938.

Things a Mite Crowded Now in A.L.

By The Associated Press

The surging Cleveland Indians, battling to retain their American League title, were only two percentage points back of the pace-setting Chicago White Sox today after attaining their highest rating since they held the lead on May 20.

Meantime, New York Yankees, much like the boy who stuck his hand in the jam jar when mamma wasn't looking, have only themselves to blame for the mess they're in now.

True Casey Stengel's operatives, seeking their sixth pennant in seven years, are only one game out of first place. But, since July 4, they have been marching steadily backward while the other contenders have been advancing in near-perfect unison.

On the morning of July 4, Yankees had a 6½-game lead. Today in third place, they not only are looking up to White Sox and Indians but have only a one-game bulge over the fourth-place Boston Red Sox and 5½ over the fifth-place Detroit Tigers.

Cleveland's 6-3 victory over Yankees Thursday left New York with a sickly 11-18 record since U.S. Independence Day.

Red Sox, who started Yankees' slide with a doubleheader victory on July 4, have a 20-9 record since then after a 7-3 romp over White Sox. Jackie Jensen, discarded by Yankees in 1952, drove in four runs with a triple, single and sacrifice fly.

Despite the loss, Chicago has a 20-12 record since July 4, while Cleveland is 20-11 and Detroit 21-13, even though they dropped a 9-6 verdict to Washington Senators Thursday.

Ex-Yankee Ed Lopat whipped Kansas City Athletics 8-1 for Baltimore Orioles in his first start since leaving New York.

Most of the noise in the National League came from the booming bat of Chicago shortstop Ernie Banks, who walloped three home runs in Cubs' 11-10 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

The outburst, good for seven runs batted in, left him tied with Brooklyn's Duke Snider for the home-run lead with 36 and third in runs batted in with 87.

Catcher Roy Campanella relieved Snider of the home-run hitting burden as he walloped a three-run homer that brought Brooks an 11-10 victory over Milwaukee and a lead of 15½ games over the Braves, their biggest margin of the season.

Relief pitcher Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati Redlegs started a double play with the bases loaded to preserve a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia Phillies and Tom Poholsky of St. Louis Cardinals stopped New York Giants on only four hits for a 3-0 victory.

He threw only 88 pitches, missing the plate on only 28 of them, and one of the National League's quickest games of the year was over in one hour and 47 minutes.

Vic Wertz put over the crusher for Cleveland with a three-run home-run while Al Rosen blasted four hits in as many times at bat. Mickey Mantle of Yankees took the league homer lead in the ninth with his 24th.

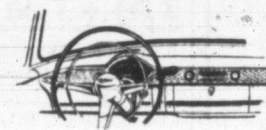

Jimmy Piersall, the third man in Boston's outfield with Jensen and Ted Williams, contributed a home run, double and single, while Norm Zaichin also had a homer. Ancient Ellis Kinder, making his 30th relief appearance of the season, retired the final five batters on 13 pitches.

Automobile is just a word until you drive a Chevrolet

Honestly, when you drive a 1955 Chevrolet you'll revise every one of your ideas about low-cost motoring. It's such a new and wonderful experience that we've coined a new phrase to describe it—motoramic driving! Try it—and see what we mean!

Every Hand Control Within Easy Reach

Lights, ignition, starter, heater, gear shift, directional signals—all are right under your hands. No reaching, no stretching—in no time at all you find yourself operating them automatically—without even looking.

4-Fender Visibility

Once you've experienced this wonderful new feature, you'll realize that new horizons have been opened on driving visibility. You feel so much safer in traffic—you find parking's a cinch, because you can see more from every angle.

High-Level Ventilation

Chevrolet's new high-level air intake ventilation system bathes you in cleaner, fresher currents of air—in every season and under all weather conditions. It keeps out the rain, and lessens road heat, dust and fumes.

Instant Response

When you want to get away from a light—when you need fast acceleration for passing—that's when you fully appreciate Chevrolet's instant response. Chevrolet's many ultra-efficient "drive-features" all combine to give the fastest response in the low priced field.

Wide Door Opening

Naturally, this makes Chevrolet easier to get in and out of—and you'll especially notice the difference when wearing bulky winter clothing or when doing the family shopping.

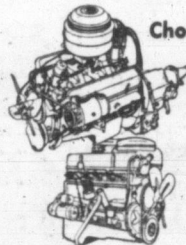

Ball-Race Steering

You'll appreciate the effect of Ball-Race Steering as soon as you handle the wheel of a Chevrolet. The wheel is easier to turn, there's less road vibration and astonishing balance and stability. That's because this new steering gear turns on scores of easy acting ball bearings.

Choice of V8 or 6 Cylinder Engine

Either of these great new engines represents a truly magnificent mechanical achievement. Your own personal reasons will decide which is best for you. Both have such highly advanced features as ultra-high compression ratios, hydraulic valve lifters, 12-volt ignition systems, full pressure lubrication and many, many more. As a result, either will give you a whole new experience in economy, durability and performance.

New Roominess

There's more room for hips, hats and legs on the inside of a Chevrolet—even though Chevrolet is more compact on the outside. And it's a roominess you appreciate on long trips—or when you want to carry six people in your car. Only Chevrolet gives you so much freedom to relax and enjoy the drive.

No Dip Braking

Chevrolet stops with its front end level, without dipping or diving—with amazingly firm control of the car even during emergency stops. Gone is the feeling of being pitched up and out of the seat during sudden stopping.

Large Luggage Compartment

It's amazing what you can pack away in Chevrolet's trunk. It easily carries everything the family needs—and there's no awkward ledge to make loading and unloading difficult.

Sure-Footed Roadability

Chevrolet hugs the road like a low-slung sports car, yet smooths the bumps and ruts with effortless ease. This roadability is so outstanding that it's been acclaimed by automotive critics everywhere. But, prove it to yourself! Drive a Chevrolet today and you'll discover that its brilliant roadability, plus all its other magnificent features, make it the greatest family car ever produced.

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actor Sonny Tufts, twice accused in lawsuits by dancers of biting them on the thigh, was charged yesterday in a $10,000 damage suit with pinching a 22-year-old woman on the "upper thigh."

Mrs. Adrienne Forman, 22, of North Hollywood, Calif., accused Tufts of biting her in a Studio City, Calif., restaurant July 27. Her attorneys said the actor sat down uninvited at her table and "began to annoy her."

Tufts brought his meal over to the table despite Mrs. Forman's protests, the attorneys said. One said the actor then "ran his hand up her leg and pinched her on the upper thigh."

The woman screamed, said the attorney, and ordered Tufts to go away.

Last January 17, a superior judge approved a $600 out-of-court settlement paid by Tufts to Marguerite Von, 19, a Long Beach dancer. She had sued for $26,000 damages on grounds that the actor bit her on the thigh on February 20, 1951, while aboard a yacht during filming of a picture.

U.S. BATTLES PAUL ROBESON ON TRAVEL BAN

WASHINGTON (A.P.) — Paul Robeson's efforts to force the state department to grant him a passport will be fought by the government, a state department spokesman disclosed Thursday night.

The passport of the baritone was lifted in 1950 on the ground that his travel abroad would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States.

The singer called at the department in mid-July to demand immediate issuance of a passport for a singing-acting tour of European, Middle Eastern and Far Eastern countries including Russia.

He made the demand in view of court decisions recently which have overturned previous state department refusals to issue passports to Americans who want to go abroad.

Robeson subsequently got permission to leave for a Canadian singing engagement but the department continued to bar him from travelling anywhere else in the world.

80 Mid-Island Scouts Set for Jamboree

NANAIMO — Approximately 80 scouts and scout leaders from Mid-Island will leave here Aug. 14 for the world scout jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, to start Aug. 18.

The boys will be from Nanaimo, Duncan, Shawnigan Lake, the Alberni, Campbell River, Courtenay and Cumberland. In charge of the group will be Scoutmaster A. N. Skipsey of Port Alberni. Assistants will be R. Richmond of Nanaimo and C. J. Curtis of Shawnigan Lake.

CHESTERFIELD, England (CP) — Workmen digging up a street in this Derbyshire town struck a seam of coal.

Actors' Strike Hits TV Studios

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The strike immediately, since most of the big film shows—including Dragnet, Burns and Allen, I Love Lucy and Medic—have most of their films for the season completed.

Basic issue in the contract dispute is whether actors will get paid when films are re-run the second time.

Under the old contracts between the guild and the Alliance of Television Film Producers and the Association of Motion Picture Producers, actors got residual payments for the third to sixth showing of films.

The actors' group said the new contract, already signed by five of the producers, would provide actors with minimums increased from $70 to $82 for day players and from $250 to $287.50 for weekly free-lance players.

In addition, it would provide for payment of 75 per cent of the minimum salary for the second run of a TV film, 50 per cent for the third and fourth runs combined, 25 per cent for the fifth run and one final payment of 25 per cent covering the sixth and all subsequent runs.

The suit, for $3,000 against the actress and $3,000 against DiMaggio, was filed Aug. 30, 1954, by physical instructor Bart A. Antinora, 35, of North Hollywood. He claimed Miss Monroe's Cadillac convertible rammed the rear of his MG sports car May 21, 1954, while he waited for a red light.

Turks Rejected By Canada, Says Newsmen

'Honest Allies' Of Western World

"Turkey, where Communism has met an insurmountable wall" is an "honest and true ally" to the western world, but Canadians discriminate against and reject Turks at their borders.

That was the charge of Vancouver's Michael Dean, correspondent for the Istanbul newspaper Vatan, at a Victoria Rotary Club meeting Thursday.

Mr. Dean calls himself Canada's only Turkish-Canadian. He has lived in B.C. for 26 years. But now he says, no Turk can enter this country.

Three years ago, Mr. Dean said the Canadian Immigration authorities denied him permission to bring a Turkish boxer here for fights.

INSULTING

"The deportation order gave this simple and most insulting reason—'Asiatic Race,'" said Mr. Dean.

"Ever since that incident I have been wondering what my status was during my army service in the Second World War."

He pointed out that Turkey was the first country to practice democracy, Greek history to the contrary.

The attitude of Canada is fuel for the fires of hatred among nations whose friendship and help the West is seeking today, he added.

"The bamboo curtain around China was not put there by the Chinese but by us alone. It is about time that we realized that in Asia we are fighting a war of hatred... God created man in his own image. Are we not discriminating against our God when we discriminate against our fellow man?"

Three Share Leadership In Tam Golf

CHICAGO (UP)—Golf's big names were pursuit players today, chasing Arnold Palmer, Wally Ulrich and Ted Kroll in the second round of Tam O'Shanter's "All-American" tournament after the trio tied with four-under-par 68's for the first 18 holes.

In all, 43 of the field of 146 pros who completed the first round equalled par or better. Ford had a 69, Souhak a 70, Barber, Thomson and Furgol 71's, Sneed a 72, and Middlecoff, Stranahan and Douglas 73's. Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B.C., had a 70.

Patty Berg of Chicago, a three time winner of the women's top prize in this annual affair, was tied for first place in the women pro group with Carol Bowman, a relative newcomer from Oakland, Calif. Each shot a one under par 75.

Canada, U.S. Trade Problems To Be Aired at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—High-ranking Canadian and American cabinet ministers will confer here Sept. 26 in a one-day attempt to iron out trade and economic problems between the two countries.

Trade officials said today the main item on the agenda will be the U.S. wheat disposal program which Canada has criticized as interfering with commercial markets for Canadian wheat.

Date and place of the second session of the joint U.S.-Canadian trade and economic committee was announced by the external affairs department which had been trying for months to get the Americans to agree to a firm date.

The first meeting was held in Washington, March 16, 1954. The two countries had agreed to hold a meeting at least once a year.

State Secretary Dulles will head the American delegation, which will include Agriculture Secretary Benson, Treasury Secretary Humphrey and Commerce Secretary Weeks.

External Affairs Minister Pearson likely will be chairman of the meeting. Other Canadian ministers will include Trade Minister Howe, Agriculture Minister Gardiner or Fisheries Minister Sinclair and Finance Minister Harris.

A big plus...exclusive with Chevron!

"Detergent-Action"

plus

New Power!

+ new power ...from Standard's newest process in refining gasoline comes the highest octane in Chevron history! It means more power for high-compression engines, more "lift" on steep mountain grades, smoother pick-up in city traffic or on the open road!

+ "Detergent-Action" ...the Chevron exclusive that cleans away carburetor deposits — ends the biggest single cause of engine trouble. In addition, through Standard's new refining methods, Chevron Gasolines control the major source of harmful combustion acids to extend the life and power of your engine up to 135% longer.

+ balanced performance ...not 1, not 2, but every gasoline feature your car needs: increased gas mileage, smooth idling, and stall prevention because of "Detergent-Action" + fast starting + quick warm-up + surging acceleration + extra power + higher anti-knock + area blending + rust and corrosion prevention + vapor-lock protection + longer engine life.

Chevron Supreme ...for knock-free performance in high-compression engines.

Chevron Regular ...for peak power in engines with lower octane requirements.

You alone can prove this performance in your car... why not try a tankful today!

NEW HIGHWAY SECTION NEAR COBBLE HILL

Reconstruction of 3.7 miles of Island Highway between Cobble Hill and Cowichan Bay Road will start this fall. Tenders for the project were called today by the Provincial Highways Department, and are returnable Aug. 18. Work is expected to start within a week or two of the awarding of the contract.

Officials said the reconstruction will follow closely the existing road.

Completion is scheduled for early next year.

MASSIVE DAM

$4 Million Bid Lowest For Upper Campbell

Marwell Construction Co. Ltd., at $4,119,595 was lowest bidder on construction of the B.C. Power Commission's Upper Campbell Lake power dam when tenders opened Thursday.

The firm was one of six construction companies submitting bids on the project, which is estimated to cost a total $19,000,000, including generating equipment, and future expansion.

Other bids were: Dawson Wade, $4,921,875; Emil Anderson and General Construction, $4,997,605; Campbell-Bennett Ltd., $5,336,585; Argonaut Construction Co. Ltd., $6,127,425; and Northern Construction and J. W. Stewart Ltd., $6,867,766.

The job involves construction of a massive dam near the outlet of Upper Campbell Lake. Initial stage calls for water storage for use at the John Hart B.C. Power Commission plant.

The second stage calls for raising the dam, and installing power generators.

New Atom Pile World's Best

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new experimental atomic energy reactor at Chalk River, Ont., will be five times as powerful as the famed NRX atomic pile, it was disclosed Thursday.

The $40,000,000 reactor, known by the code name NRU, will have a power of 200,000 kilowatts when it goes into operation in June, 1956. NRX, built in 1947 and now shut down for repairs after its second most serious accident, develops 40,000 kilowatts.

The power at which NRU will operate was disclosed in a booklet published by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., crown company in charge of atomic research at Chalk River. The booklet, outlining atomic research in this country, was prepared for distribution at the international conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy in Geneva August 8-18.

It said the new reactor, essentially a research tool to probe the mysteries of the atom, will "be the finest nuclear engineering test facility in existence." It would enable scientists to perform tests, particularly in the field of electricity — producing atomic power plants, that cannot be duplicated by reactors in any other friendly country.

STRIKE AUTHORIZED IN OKANAGAN ORCHARDS

KELOWNA (CP)—Packinghouse workers have voted in favor of strike action.

Results released Thursday by Brian Cooney, director of organization for the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers Unions disclosed that 428 voted in favor of strike action and 194 were opposed.

Mr. Cooney declined comment on what action his union would take now. He said the FFVWU has two months to call a walk-out after employers are given 48 hours notice.

At the peak of the harvest, about 4,000 persons are employed in the 30 certified packinghouses which come under FFVWU jurisdiction.

The union seeks a 10-cent-an-hour increase. The request was turned down by a majority report of a conciliation board. Present wage scale is $1.05 for men and 80 cents for women after 60 days employment.

Ike Has Given No Thoughts To 'Summit' Talks With Chinese

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower Thursday ruled out for the foreseeable future any "summit meeting" with Red China in which he would participate. He told a news conference it is too far in advance even to speculate on the possibility and that he is not even thinking about it now. He also said Nationalist China's interests would not be discussed in any meeting unless its representatives are present. Eisenhower made the statements when asked whether there was any chance that cur-

COLOMBIA NEWSPAPER CLOSED BY GOVERNMENT

BOGOTA, Colombia (UP)—Colombia's principal morning newspaper, El Tiempo, was suspended today for refusing to publish a government-dictated statement. Interior Minister Lucio Pabon Munoz announced the closing in a radio address Thursday night. The newspaper failed to appear Thursday morning because it refused to publish the retraction ordered by the government. Police were stationed at the newspaper plant. The retraction concerned the death of three persons in what the police called an automobile accident. El Tiempo said the deaths were not accidental. The government ordered the retraction published on the front page for 30 days. Last week the government reimposed press censorship throughout Colombia after two years of relative freedom of the press.

CIRCUS MAY END ISLAND VISITS

'Come and See Us Train Them' Beatty's Farewell to City

Clyde Beatty, owner and star, said farewell to Victoria today with an invitation for city people vacationing in the United States to visit the Clyde Beatty Circus in its winter quarters at Deming, New Mexico. "I always like people to see how we train the animals. There is never any cruelty. Kindness and patience are the main thing," he added that the gun and whip he uses in his act are noise-makers designed to "keep the animals' attention centred on me." Although Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Victoria show good response to the call of the "big top," cost of shipping across the straits are high and response must be general, they said. Poor crowds at Courtenay's two-day stand of Clyde Beatty circus could mean Victoria and the rest of the Island will be dropped from the circus circuit next year, officials said Wednesday. Poor crowds at Courtenay's

... readers are dull people

AVERAGE MODERN-DAY PERSON LIKES 'SAPPY' WRITINGS-KNOPF

Most Readers Just Don't Want to Flex Mental Muscles, Says Book Authority

BY TONY DICKSON

The general reader is a sap. This must be so, because he reads "sappy" books, according to one of this continent's leading book authorities, publisher Alfred A. Knopf.

Public interest in non-fiction books is steadily going down, but high on readership lists are the various "self-help" books. These appeal to "people unwilling to face problems, who feel they can get the answer from a book. It is a disturbing sign of the times," said Mr. Knopf, here today on a one-day stop-over.

This was coupled, he said, with an equally disturbing increase in the reading of digests rather than originals by people who "just don't want to flex their mental muscles."

All types of religious or pseudo-religious books were indicative of this, Mr. Knopf—"we try to pronounce all the letters, though it's hard"—has headed Alfred A. Knopf Inc. since 1918, and founded the New York firm which enjoys a top reputation in the publishing field.

"Our reputation is all out of proportion to our size," he said modestly. He publishes about 100 books yearly, most of a general nature, about 20 "juveniles" and a few college text books.

A true New Yorker, born there in 1892, Mr. Knopf graduated from Columbia University in 1912, and went into the publishing business because "I was interested in writers and books."

Logical and softly spoken, he added: "I don't consider myself a writer. If I was, I wouldn't be a publisher, would I?"

The "Inc." portion of Mr. Knopf "is not aware of Canadians as writers, because manuscripts aren't presented to us by Canadians."

Only two Canadian fiction writers are recognized in the United States, he said, Mazo de la Roche of interminable "Jalna" fame and Louis Hemon of the classic-school required reading, "Marie Chaperdaine."

Mr. Knopf is on his last stop of a Canada-wide tour to call on the book trade. Ordinarily a non-newspaper reader "except the New York Times," he is impressed with editorials in Canada's papers. He said the best columnist across the Dominion is Times editor Bruce Hutchison.

The market in the cheaper, paper-backed books may soon be killed by over-production, he said, but costlier "paperbacks" are expanding rapidly. Television has had no effect on book readers. It has not succeeded in upping or downing numbers of readers.

Juvenile books are showing a steady growth and are more profitable to publish than books for adults, he said. This is because "children's books go on year after year."

Alfred Knopf Inc., says the founder, isn't primarily in business for mere profit.

"Our desire is to publish books we like and we admire. We hope other people can share our enthusiasm."

What makes a good writer? "The ability to write and something to say."

A slow reader himself, who rarely gets time to complete re-reading his favorite authors such as Joseph Conrad, Mr. Knopf said, personally, the best novel about Canada was Willa Cather's "Shadows on the Rock" published in the 30s.

On book critics: "They have very little influence on sales."

On hack writers: "Once a hack always a hack."

On fiction: "The general taste is stable."

On the book trade: "It's been dying for 75 years, and it hasn't passed away yet."

On average novel writers: "They get between $500 and $1,000 per novel, and nobody can live on that."

On Knopf Inc. new Canadian books: "Pierre Berton's new novel on the Canadian north—'he's with Maclean's you know'—and a book by Lawrence Earl of New Brunswick, both to be published next year."

Like many typified persons connected with writing, Mr. Knopf smokes a pipe with "my own mix, about one-quarter pound, every three weeks."

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Thoughts while thinking... wonderful how quickly one can forget rotten Victoria weather when lovely Victoria weather comes along... you can't beat this town in the early morning when the sun is feeling its way through the mist and there's just enough tang of salt in the air to make your lungs glad to be alive...

... oh, all right, I know I'll be back to normal and beefing at the weatherman before the week-end's over... wonder when I'll be asked to write a heat wave story?... whoever is writing the script for the police business in Vancouver is over-doing it... much too melodramatic... couldn't happen in real life...

... liked the stark simplicity of the short little headline "WOMAN TO SPEAK"... but is that news?...

... much amused the other day to see a B.C. government car marked "for official use only" parked in front of the Humboldt street liquor store while the driver made a couple of small purchases... how official can you get?...

... still chuckling over golfer Marlene Stewart's remark when she saw the photo of swimmer Marilyn Bell crawling painfully out of the water on hands and knees after the channel swim... said Marlene, "Oh, the poor girl... why doesn't she take up golf?..."

... can hardly wait 'till this afternoon and a quiet stroll on Holland Point... which, happily, has survived improvement and is its usual serene and peaceful self...

... wonder if constituent Gladys Shrapnel has the right idea about laburnum trees... she writes "if lower laburnum branches were lopped off, its seeds could afford no menace to the small fry... seeds don't scatter until they turn black... laburnum branches snap off very easily and thus trimmed look taller and more graceful..."

... haven't seen many pictures of dead fish in the papers lately... could be others as are tired of them as I am... or is it that I've just been conditioned to them, and don't notice them... ah, well, 'twill soon be the season for pictures of dead deer...

... wonder how much havoc has been raised in kitchens by the "do it yourself" instant pudding advertisement currently appearing in magazines... the ad shows a five-year-old boy and a seven-year-old boy making their own pudding because "mom is busy"... she's not nearly so busy now as she will be when she's cleaning up after them...

... how much longer before it's closed season on Strait swimmers?... and whatever became of Caddy... maybe he has gone south where the water's warmer...

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Exchange cadets of the U.S. Civil Air Patrol left the city this morning by air for Vancouver to resume a 12-day tour of British Columbia. They spent Thursday seeing points of interest here and were received at Government House by Mrs. Clarence Wallace.

Members of the B.C. Provincial Air Cadet League committee present to handle details of the 25-cadet tour were chairman Capt. F. L. Clarke, past chairman V. R. Clendine, vice-chairman J. E. Brasseur, and chairman of liaison and tour J. A. Brown.

Rainfall in most parts of B.C. early this week cut down the forest fire hazard. Only 24 new fires were reported by the B.C. Forest Service.

Today, only 21 fires are burning in the province, and all are reported under control. So far this year, there have been 863 fires in the woods, costing $43,013 to extinguish.

Hazard is reported low in the Vancouver Forest district, which includes Vancouver Island.

Charges of careless driving and driving without a licence brought a total fine of $60 or 10 days in jail for Fred Douglas Herrington, HMCS Naden, when he appeared in Saanich police court Thursday.

Police said Herrington was involved in a two-car accident Wednesday at Tillicum and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Fine of $40 or five days in jail was imposed on George Lathian, HMCS Malahat, when he pleaded guilty Thursday in Saanich police court to a careless driving charge.

Police said he failed to negotiate a turn on Quadra Street July 28, and traveled 150 feet out of control before coming to rest on a lawn. Total damage was $180.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall suspended his licence.

Rear-Admiral James C. Hibbard, who retired recently as Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, has been appointed to the board of directors of the Fairley Aviation Co. of Canada Ltd.

C. W. Dobbyn, 3580 Cedar Hill Road, was fined $15 or three days in jail Thursday in Saanich police court on a charge laid under the Male Minimum Wage Act.

An inspector from the department of labor testified Dobbyn failed to produce to him employees' records as required under the act.

Poor employment picture in Kitimat-Kemano area has caused a plea by the Trades and Labor Council there for prospective workers to check National Employment Service before leaving home to seek work in the northern aluminum town. The council claims too many persons are arriving in the Kitimat-Kemano area expecting jobs, but finding a labor surplus. They say also that accommodation for workers is scarce, the price of quarters ranging from $4 to $12 a day.

R. Leckie, 2640 Cedar Hill Road, was fined $50 or one month in jail when he changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty today in city police court on false pretences charge.

Court was told the accused tendered a cheque at Gladwell Motors in payment for a car. He received $15 cash from the cheque, which later proved to be worthless.

B.C. director of vocational and technical education Jack White denied a charge Thursday that a "clique" controlled the Victoria educational system and used it for personal "aggrandizement."

The charge was made by Geoffrey D'Arcy, a teacher of industrial arts, who is appealing before a government board of reference his dismissal by school board 61.

He was dismissed for alleged "impertinence and gross insolence" in connection with letters he wrote to John Gough, senior municipal school inspector.

Mr. White, who was the main witness at Thursday's hearing, said he did not know of any clique which controlled promo-

Shirley May Try To Conquer Juan de Fuca

Ontario Swimmer Eyes Victoria

Shirley Campbell, the 19-year-old Fergus, Ont., girl who almost completed a cross-the-lake swim in Lake Ontario, said today she would like "some day" to try swimming the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

She also said in an interview she'd like to tackle the Catalina swim and the English Channel.

Miss Campbell added she's willing to enter a five to 10-mile race if the Canadian National Exhibition sponsored one.

She said, however, another attempt at the 32 miles from Youngstown, N.Y., to Toronto, is out.

Meanwhile, interest is gaining in Juan de Fuca attempts set for next week.

Fifth swimmer to plan an attack on the strait next week is Bob Quinn, a Toronto public swimming pool instructor whose coach planned Fainer John Donelson's swim attempt in June.

Two Victorians, a Vancouverite and a Toronto girl have already announced their intention of trying next week.

And noted English distance swimmer Brenda Fisher, women's record holder for the English Channel, has indicated she would like to swim the Strait this year or next.

Writing to friends in the city, Miss Fisher said she would attempt the Strait after participating in the Canadian National Exhibition Lake Ontario swim, Sept. 5, or else come back to Canada for a try next summer.

ENCOURAGING HER

Joan Mumby, 2540 Foul Bay, and Mrs. Mary Pyle, 565 Michigan, are partly responsible for putting the Juan de Fuca "bug" in the English swimmer's ear, and are encouraging their friend to come to Victoria for a try.

"If she can swim Lake Ontario, she can try Juan de Fuca," said Mrs. Pyle, English war bride of nine years.

Miss Fisher established a women's record for swimming the English Channel in 1951, her time being 12 hours, 43 minutes.

Quinn's coach, playground supervisor Steve Mellors, was also coach for Father Donelson when the priest made his hapless effort from Macaulay Point June 27.

Bill Muir, Saanich, and Bob Bowden of B.C. Forest Products, are slated to make their third and second tries, respectively, while Toronto's Janice White wants to make her second try on her birthday August 14, if possible.

Vancouver deaf-mute Douglas Rivette, who cancelled an attempt slated for Thursday morning, also said he wants to try next week.

Training for swimmers later in the month or early in September are Vancouver-Victoria salesman Johnny Flower and Cpl. "Big" Martin, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

TWENTY-FOUR DOZEN HAMBURGERS placed end-to-end... go a long way in the eyes of orphans. Ian Turner (left), proprietor of Jubilee Coffee Shop, 2004 Richmond, bet Bert Thomas 12 dozen burgers, double or nothing, he couldn't swim Juan de Fuca Strait, so today he owed Thomas 288 of the sizzling sandwiches. Bert, wife Marion and Ove Witt ate three, leaving 285 for B.C. Protestant Orphanage (56 burgers) and Central Park playground wind-up program this afternoon. (Times Photo.)

Stock Fraud Curbs To Get Airing Here

Draft legislation aimed at curbing international stock frauds and encouraging bona fide investment and development will be considered at the annual convention of securities administrators in Victoria and Vancouver Aug. 29 to Sept. 2.

The legislation is the result of two years' work at Harvard Law School by Professor Louis Loss.

At present, laws in all provinces and states vary, and because of the complexity of the legislation, bona fide investments have been discouraged in many cases.

One official said the laws now "create an expense which is not in ratio to the moneys acquired for actual prospecting and development. Separate applications are required to each state and province, and each set of requirements is different."

LARGEST CONVENTION

The convention will be the largest in the 38-year history of the National Association of Securities Administrators. Registration at Vancouver is expected to reach over 400.

The delegates will move to Victoria's Empress Hotel for September 1 and 2. Their first day here will be taken up with the forum discussion of the Professor Loss report.

Fishing trips are being arranged for delegates who stay over for September 2. About 370 are expected to attend the Victoria session.

Among those attending the convention are W. A. Schmidt, of the Investment Bankers Association of America; G. Keith Funtun, president New York Stock Exchange; Ed McCormick, president American Stock Exchange; W. G. Paul, president, Los Angeles Stock Exchange; Ron E. Kayhler, president San Francisco Stock Exchange; Harold I. Kramer, president, Midwest Stock Clearing Corporation; Brian Lock, president, Calgary Stock Exchange; Stuart Osler, president Toronto Stock Exchange; James B. Weir, president Montreal Stock Exchange, and John McGraw, president Vancouver Stock Exchange.

J. Stewart Smith, B.C. superintendent of brokers, heads the convention committee.

PRELUDE TO HORSE SHOW

Victoria Shriners to Romp In Gala Parade Saturday

Victoria Shriners will sweep through city streets Saturday afternoon, leading a laugh-packed parade to the Victoria Shrine horse show and western games at Royal Athletic Park.

Shriners begin their romp at Pandora and Quadra at 1.30, led by a horse and buggy bearing chairman John White and show marshal Ted Porter. The parade will proceed to Fort Street, down Douglas to Herald, Vancouver, Green and then to the park.

Units in the parade will be the Nanaimo Shriners, Victoria Shrine Band, a clown unit from Courtenay, Eagles Drill Team, Eaglettes, Bluebird majorettes, Frontiersmen, Garden City Horsemen, Western Horsemen, Colwood Trail Riders, Victoria Riding Academy and the King County Sheriff's posse.

A second horse-drawn buggy will contain Mayor Claude Harrison, potentate Jack M. Straight, and W. Scott Kirkpatrick, president, Gizeh Temple.

In the third will be queen of the horse show, Carol Lynn Daniels, 8, and her consort, Wayne Cooley, 13.

Units will assemble at the starting point at 1.15. More than 150 horses and riders will race through the streets at the afternoon show, which gets underway at 2.15 with a grand parade around the park.

For roughrider fans, top events will be balloon spearing, wranglers' and saddling races and western working.

Afternoon events will also include pair jumping, open jumping, a display by the King County sheriff's posse and back alley jumping.

Scheduled for the evening show at 7.30 are open jumping, pole bending, junior jumping, bareback wrestling, six bar jumping, musical chairs, trailer race, and the posse.

Drug Cure Program Planned at Oakalla

YEAR'S 8TH VICTIM OF POLIO ESQUIMALT LAGOON YOUNGSTER

Eighty polio cases to be admitted to Jubilee Hospital this year and the seventh from the Greater Victoria area, is a three-year-old girl, from Esquimalt Lagoon.

Admitted Tuesday, the youngster was confirmed as a polio case today.

Most of the cases reported so far this summer have been classed as not too serious. There were two fatalities earlier, one as a result of the 1953 outbreak.

Young Burglar Given Six-Month Jail Term

John William Gale, 18, 3029 Tillicum, was sentenced today to two six-month definite and two two-year, indefinite terms at New Haven offenders' unit on two burglary charges.

The sentences will run concurrently.

Gale was charged in city court with breaking and entering and theft March 28 at the jewelry shop of Edwin Rowbotham, 1315 Douglas, and in Esquimalt court with a similar offence April 1 at Gorge Vale Golf Club.

A second youth charged in connection with the golf club break-in, Terrance Ernest Merkel, 18, was sentenced to a six-month definite term and two years indefinite at New Haven.

Mervin Ellingson, 17, 600 Ker, was remanded to Monday with out plea on a charge of breaking and entering and theft at Rowbothams. He has been transferred from juvenile court.

Police said today entry was gained to the jewelry shop by removing a section of a skylight and dropping down inside.

Most of the $1,000 loot taken in the break-in has been recovered.

Third Teen-Ager Gets Jail Term For House Raids

A third youth was sentenced in Saanich police court today in connection with July 8 damage to three summer homes at property of James J. White, owner of Killarney Lake.

Frank Sutherland, 16, 1203 Blanshard, was sentenced to six months definite and two years indefinite at New Haven on a charge of breaking and entering and mischief.

Previously sentenced on similar charges were Mervin W. Lee, 19, HMCS Athabasca, and Donald Penner, 17, 2803 Adelaide.

Lee received a similar sentence as Sutherland, while Penner was sentenced to nine months definite and two years indefinite at the first offenders' unit at Oakalla Prison.

Police said over $200 damage was done at the summer residence. Windows were broken, a canoe holed and various articles thrown about and broken.

Assault on Woman Brings Youth Six-Month Term

A 19-year-old Saanich resident, who hit a woman over the head with a pop bottle and then choked her unconscious, was sentenced to six months in jail at a special sitting of Saanich police court today.

Gordon Harold John Ferguson, 608 Judah, was charged with assaulting Alma Myrtle Barnes, about 35, 4130 Qianford, at her home on July 30.

Police said Ferguson, a neighbor of Mrs. Barnes, went to visit at her home the night of July 30.

When asked to leave he struck her on the head with a pop bottle and caught her about the neck from behind.

The two struggled into a front room, where Mrs. Barnes lost consciousness.

Mrs. Barnes was detained overnight in hospital.

B.C. will embark immediately on an experimental drug addict rehabilitation program, Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced today.

Initial stages of the program will involve only "star class" addicts now held in Oakalla Prison Farm, but later will be extended to addicts volunteering for cure and rehabilitation.

Mr. Bonner said the plan "will begin with a star class of addicts, a group selected from those in custody who appear to offer the best chance of success in terms of the experimental program."

First step in the pilot project calls for further segregation of addicts at Oakalla. At present, narcotics offenders are kept apart from other prisoners.

This segregation will be extended, it is expected, to addicts selected for rehabilitation from other addicts.

The attorney-general said "it is intended special training facilities—trade or high school—will be provided, to make up deficiencies standing in the way of taking proper employment on discharge from prison."

SEMI-PUBLIC BODY

"The second major technique employed is creation of a semi-public body, which will have ultimately two responsibilities; immediately, post-discharge attention—in effect, following up to see what opportunities the addict takes of his cure," he said.

In some cases, this would involve finding jobs for the discharged addicts.

Mr. Bonner said the semi-public body would be "deal with people seeking cures who are not in custody."

He said the organization would screen such volunteers, and steer likely candidates to sanatoriums, where they can take withdrawal treatment.

The semi-public body will largely be composed of private citizens who have shown great interest in the question of narcotic addiction, and rehabilitation of addicts, along the lines of a Narcotic Addiction Society, as recommended by the Vancouver Community Chest and Council.

Twelve Oakalla addicts will make up the project's initial "class."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Can you tell me who was the officer in the British navy who long ago caused great controversy in the country by giving the order, "On your knees, you dogs?"—A.B.

A.—This column has been shown a letter by W. H. Mercer, of Victoria, which he received in reply to one he sent to the National Maritime Museum, Greenwich, Com-mander W. E. May, Deputy Director of the museum wrote: "The incident to which you refer started on the 4th November, 1906, but you appear to have heard a highly colored version. The order 'On your knees, you dogs,' was never given. The actual order was 'On the knee,' it being a recognized custom when an officer had to address a large body of men for them to go on one knee so he could see them and they could hear him more clearly. Some newly-joined stokers did not understand and from this the trouble started. The mis-quotation has persisted for many years and occasionally crops up in print. The order was in use in the British army years ago. When a body of troops was drawn up in not-low square, it was customary for an officer addressing them from the centre to have the first line on each side drop to one knee so he could see the men behind them, who also heard more clearly in that formation."

Official Denies Clique Running Educational System in Victoria

B.C. director of vocational and technical education Jack White denied a charge Thursday that a "clique" controlled the Victoria educational system and used it for personal "aggrandizement."

The charge was made by Geoffrey D'Arcy, a teacher of industrial arts, who is appealing before a government board of reference his dismissal by school board 61.

He was dismissed for alleged "impertinence and gross insolence" in connection with letters he wrote to John Gough, senior municipal school inspector.

Mr. White, who was the main witness at Thursday's hearing, said he did not know of any clique which controlled promotions of teachers to senior positions. All promotions are based on the qualifications of teachers, he said.

TEACHER MORALE

Mr. D'Arcy questioned Mr. White on the morale of the teachers in the Greater Victoria school system, especially with regard to the technical arts staff.

"As far as I know they are all happy," replied Mr. White. "I have known of some dissatisfaction. One of them was you. There was another man but his case has since been settled. These are the only two individuals I know of."

"How many staff changes have there been at the Fairley Technical School in the past six years?" asked Mr. D'Arcy.

Mr. White replied there were 10 changes. But many of the changes were due to promotions, he added. Other teachers had been moved to other schools.

Mr. D'Arcy then examined Mr. White with regard to a public notice advertising a vacancy for a supervisor of technical education and night schools. The notice called for summer school teaching experience as one of the qualifications.

Mr. D'Arcy in one of his letters to Mr. Gough suggested that the notice was "rigged" and "tailored" and designed to eliminate most teachers from applying for the job as few have had experience in teaching at summer school.

With regard to the notice, Mr. White said the qualifications listed were only expressions of what the school board would like. He added that in his opinion he regarded the qualification of summer school teaching experience as important.

ALL BUT THREE

"Did you note when the notice was framed that the qualification would eliminate every man in the district except three?" asked Mr. D'Arcy.

Mr. White said all technical teachers were informed they could apply for the job.

B. C. Gillie, representing the B.C. Teachers' Federation on the board of reference, asked Mr. D'Arcy if he thought the summer school qualification was added to exclude some people and include some.

Mr. D'Arcy said: "That's the only impression I can get."

(Mr. D'Arcy, who is without summer school teaching experience, applied for the job.)

Mr. White denied the notice was to exclude people. He was supported by Mr. Gough, who said the members of the technical staff had been informed on June 7, that the qualifications sought would not exclude them from applying for the job.

One of the last witnesses called to the stand was Arthur Yates, a retired technical arts teacher who in 1953 taught a summer course which was attended by Mr. D'Arcy.

He told the board that he respected Mr. D'Arcy, but at the time felt the teacher had a "chip on his shoulder."

He looked at Mr. D'Arcy intently.

"I know what's the matter with you, Geoff," he said. "I've been through it myself. I saved myself in time, though, by deciding to love my fellow men. Love your fellow men, I'm here to help you, and I hope they give you another chance."

John J. McIntosh, board chairman, adjourned the hearing until Saturday. Mr. D'Arcy will then take the witness stand to present his case.

Salad Makings, Fruits
At Wonderful Low Prices

By PENNY SAVER

Summer time is salad time. And all the delicious makings of a perfect salad are yours for a low, reasonable price on the local markets. What would you like best? Tomatoes are red and juicy. "Beefsteak" tomatoes are 27 cents a pound, and the dessert variety are two pounds for 25 cents. Locally grown cucumbers are selling at a surprisingly low price, too. Just 10 cents each. Large heads of local lettuce are at two prices, 10 and 15 cents. Combine these few vegetables, and you'll have a salad to satisfy everybody.

You can add lots more, too, and vary your salad types. Green onions are a welcome addition in our house, and they cost 6 cents a bunch. To add the special bright color to your creation, add some radishes, either halved or sliced, to provide an interesting red-rimmed effect. They're 6 cents a bunch. Now add a few hard-boiled eggs all chopped up, sliced or sectioned, toss the whole thing with your favorite dressing or oils, and there you are.

For the main meal vegetables, you'll enjoy the locally grown produce available. Carrots are two bunches for 19 cents. Beets are three bunches for 25 cents and cauliflower is 15 and 20 cents a head.

Luscious corn on the cob is ever present during the warmer weather. You can buy them at five for 35 cents or four for 29 cents, depending where you shop. New "fat"ers are appearing now, and they're so reasonably priced that you can hardly afford to grow them. For 25 cents you buy 10 pounds. Another late-come to the scene are the really ripe marrow, on sale at 12 cents a pound. Broad beans are 13 cents a pound.

On the fruit scene, Bing cherries are 32 and 37 cents a pound.

Peaches are four for 25 cents and three for 25 cents, depending on the size. Grapes are another shopper's favorite. Mauve grapes are 25 cents a pound; purple are 40 cents a pound, and the sweet, seedless green ones are 25 cents.

Cantaloupe cost 23 cents each, and apricots are 20 cents a pound. Plums are 27 cents a pound, and pears, four for 25 cents. Raspberries and loganberries are both selling at two boxes for 35 cents, while boysenberries are 30 cents a basket. Local gooseberries are the biggest I've ever seen—the size of the large grapes. The price? Just 25 cents a pound. Red and black currants are 27 cents a pound, and watermelon is 5 cents a pound.

TODAY'S RECIPE

"Wonderful Chicken" has the exciting appeal that makes other women ask "May I have your recipe?" Select a nice plump fryer or broiler and brown thoroughly in oil and butter. Season, as you like it best, then pour over $\frac{1}{4}$ cup Sauterne wine. Cover tightly and let it simmer gently until tender. Add a half cup, or more if you like, of thick sweet or sour cream, then heat and serve. You might like to sprinkle finely chopped chives, parsley or fresh herbs over just before serving.

AS WE LIVE

Family Friction
Gets Mother Down

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Some families live together harmoniously with only an occasional quarrel, while in other families the members seem to be at each others' throats constantly. What causes this friction, and how can it be avoided?

(Q)—"I am just about at the end of my rope. We are a family of five, my husband, two teenage children, a boy of 17 and a girl of 15, the baby of the family, a boy of eight, and myself. Until recently, we lived together very happily and everyone seemed to get along well with everyone else. But in the last year things have been going from bad to worse. I can't quite put my finger on the cause of the trouble, but it seems to come mainly from the teenagers and their father."

"My husband is always criticizing our 17-year-old son for this or that, and our 15-year-old daughter is always picking on her little brother and on me. She says I spoil the little boy, that I won't let her do what other girls are allowed to do, that I get too fat, etc. I must admit that she tries my patience at times and I get pretty annoyed at her critical attitude. What advice can you give me?"

(A)—You and your husband should learn to take your teenage children less seriously. I do not mean that you should push them out of the family nest, let them do as they please, or permit them to rule the roost. But you should not get so upset over their actions, speech and general attitudes.

The teens are trying years. The only way a family can live through them without causing bad feelings all around is by taking a philosophical attitude.

Your husband cannot expect adult behavior from your 17-year-old son. He may not do things as you would want him to do them, but show him how instead of criticizing. He may be at a loss to know what to do and how to do it.

As for your daughter, don't let her criticisms of you and of the little boy upset you. In fact, she may have a point. Why not look at her criticisms in an unbiased way and see if she is right about what she says? Then ask for her help in correcting these faults instead of getting angry at her.

Three Aims

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

FRIDAY QUESTION BOX

Q—"Have you ever thought of planning a reducing diet for those of us who are temporarily without teeth? I am about to have all of my lower teeth extracted and it seems to me that this would be a good time to reduce. However, what to eat presents quite a problem since most items on the reducing diet must be chewed. There must be thousands of your readers in this same predicament."

A—You can build your diet around soft boiled or poached eggs, milk toast, baby foods (the sieved vegetables and fruits), cereals, fruit juices. You can scrape your meat or use the baby-food meats. The calorie count is the same whether vegetables are whole or sieved. You will have to watch out for the same hazards those with teeth do; namely cream, candy, deserts, fried foods, butter or margarine, salad oils, sauces and all trimmings.

I think this would be a good time to reduce because you will not find eating such a temptation.

Q—"I have started to reduce but have high blood pressure and have to take pills to control it. I have read in a medical book about a rice diet for high blood pressure. Do you know anything about this? I love rice pudding. If I made it with skim milk and used saccharin for sweetening would it be all right for me? Do let me know because I believe that rice is recommended for high blood pressure."

A—Yes, I do know that the rice diet is sometimes prescribed for high blood pressure.

However, your question is a medical one which I am not qualified to answer. Talk this over with your doctor and follow his directions implicitly. I am sure he wants you to lose weight because a loss of weight usually lowers blood pressure.

Q—"I am 13 years old. All of my friends have matured sooner than I. In my hygiene class when the teacher asks how many of us have started our menstrual period everyone but me raises her hand. This is very embarrassing. I know that my mother did not begin her periods until she was 16 but my friends do not understand this. I get so depressed about it that I try to avoid my friends. To make things worse, two cousins (only 11 and 12 years old) have started."

A—Do not let this worry you. It is not at all unnatural to begin your menstrual periods later. Girls differ in this. You will probably be like your mother and there's nothing wrong with her. Be glad that you have good health and go ahead and enjoy your friends. You are too smart, I am sure, to let something of no importance ruin your fun.

Waistline—Is It High or Low?

PARIS (AP)—Dressmaker Jacques Heim has decided to put the waistline back where he found it.

The trend toward wider shoulders continued in the only collection shown Friday in the second day of the new fall season.

Other designers have tried to eliminate the waistline altogether or place it above or below the natural spot. Heim prefers to go along with the nature.

These post-nuptial gatherings took place at the home of Mrs. Clunk's daughter, Mrs. D. Higgins, 262 Regina Street. A pink and white gladioli centerpiece was the focal point of the tea table.

NOW LIVING IN AMERICA

Her Story Reads Like Old-Time Fairy Tale

NEW YORK (NEA)—If a versatile, global gadabout named Margaret Liang Yen Yang Chiao "Laughing Buddha" "Little Wac" Briggs has a special fondness for fairy tales, it is easy to understand.

Her own exciting past is a fairy tale come to life.

The woman with many names is a carbon-copy example of the plots about poor little rich girls. The rich girls in question are those who flee from their homes of a too-strict father, seek their own independence, almost get killed in the process, then meet a Prince Charming who carries them off to Dreamland.

Now living in America as a fine new author, Margaret has followed the plot line right from the beginning.

Her birthplace, for instance, was beautiful Peiping, China, where her home and family were straight from the storybooks.

YOUNG REBEL

The family was not only wealthy, it was one of the very few directly descended from General Khan. And while millions of China's poor lived seven or eight to a room, Margaret (then Yang Chiao) had a private courtyard and servants.

But Father Yang was a tyrant. Like other old-fashioned Mongols, he regarded his only daughter merely as a marriage pawn. So at 17, determined to break the mold, Margaret became a rebel.

Fleeing to distant Shanghai, with no funds and a single dress, she changed her name to Liang Yen. Lying about her age, she set out to find a job.

During the next two years, the jobs she found were many and varied—secretary, teacher, hotel clerk, factory worker, writer and companion to an eccentric princess. Once there was even a try at the movies (a position she quickly vetoed when asked to show her knees.) Every inch of the way, Margaret stuck to her goal. She would earn her way to America, where women were treated as equals, and become a lawyer. But always something went wrong.

IN SECRET SERVICE

As Shanghai was falling a terse letter arrived. "Are you willing to travel?" It asked. "Are you willing to serve your country?"

Liang said "yes" immediately and was told to leave for Kunming, far off in China's interior. There she was told her mission: to pose as a language tutor while turning up Japanese spies.

Months of determined sleuthing, however, failed to yield any clues. And when local suspicion arose that Liang was a Jap spy herself, she quit. Soon she was chief assistant to the head of an export-import firm. For the next couple of years, life was grim but rewarding. There were narrow brushes with enemy bombs. There were dangerous trips by truck on the rutty new Burma road. But the savings account for the trip to America was growing as never before.

When the business finally died as the Japs sealed the Burma Road, enough cash had been banked to make the trip a reality. There was, however, a slight obstacle. The money was banked in Hong Kong, hundreds of miles away and now held by the Japs.

The trip meant hardship and danger, but dealing with hardship and danger had now become routine. In one of the few decisions she later came to regret, Liang decided to chance it.

The first leg of the trip was a six-day ride in crowded trucks, largely through bandit country. Then came a stretch of 150 miles which had to be covered on foot. Finally a secret fishing boat voyage into Hong Kong itself.

Often moving on nerve alone, Liang finally made it, only to learn at the end that the pot of gold had vanished. The Japs had frozen bank deposits. Soon, however, she got revenge. In the guise of an ignorant country woman, she obtained a permit to leave Hong Kong. Outwitting the Japs at every turn, she managed to smuggle with her (1) the son of a friend, (2) surveying equipment, and (3) military radios.

At Tehekam, in the French colony, she barely escaped capture when a tip came from a friend that a Jap agent was looking for her.

But then came the worst blow of all. She became suddenly ill with a tumor and anemia. Weeks of frantic searching, often on the verge of collapse, brought her at last to Chungking, where a British doctor said he would operate. There was one operation, then another. A coma, then another. Then a long convalescence.

Finally, a year and one-half after she'd left, Liang got back to Kunming, now filled with Americans. Soon she was back at work, teaching the busy foreigners the complex Chinese language.

Soon, too, she was back in trouble. The association with

Extended Visit Overseas

Miss Beryl Harvey, daughter of Inspector and Mrs. C. H. Harvey, 1940 Forrester Street, left Thursday for Vancouver to join Miss Shirley Johnston, who crossed to the mainland earlier in the week. The two girls are travelling east to New York from where they will sail on the Holland-American Line Ss. Maasden for England. Miss Harvey expects to spend two years overseas and Miss Johnston, who is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie Johnston, 1899 Foul Bay Road, will be away a year. The young travelers are graduates of the Royal Jubilee Hospital and have recently been members of the staff of that hospital's laboratory.

Last Sunday evening, Inspector and Mrs. Harvey entertained at a farewell dinner party at their home in honor of their daughter. Covers were laid for 20.

On the same evening, Mrs. Johnston was hostess at a dinner party at her home to honor her daughter. The two friends were much feted by friends prior to their departure and were the recipients of many gifts.

Miss Dorothy Ellen Davies Wears Lace Wedding Gown From Scotland

Red and cream gladioli and hite lilies formed a traditional floral background for the wedding ceremony in St. Stephen's Church recently which united a marriage Miss Dorothy Ellen Davies and Mr. Wardlaw B. Stewart. Rev. E. H. Lee officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald L. Davies, the bride was gown in a dress bought especially for her wedding in Edinburgh. It was a ballerina-length creation of bacardi brown lace over champagne-toned taffeta. The bodice was fitted, topped with a short jacket with three-quarter sleeves and Peter Pan collar, and the skirt flared into graceful folds. Her shoes and dainty feather hat were in tone with her gown. She carried a colonial bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, fern and cream streamers. Her earrings were a gift of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Davies, 1330 Pandora Avenue.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Thomas Reesor, Calgary. Her dress was of champagne shantung in ballerina length, fashioned with an off-shoulder neckline and full skirt. She carried a bouquet similar to the bride's. The groom asked Peter Turgoose to be best man. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where a two-tier wedding cake decorated with yellow roses centred the lace cloth-covered bride's table. Vases of yellow and salmon gladioli and white candles flanked the cake.

For a honeymoon to be spent up-Island, the bride donned for traveling a charcoal grey suit with a white lace blouse, white gloves and black hat and purse. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will live at 2051 Rummymede Avenue when they return.

be sure, but the only one spade. It's very easy when you can see what he actually played, but South had two advantages. First, he saw only his own cards and the dummy. The East player was wily Edgar Kaplan, one of the country's top players. West opened with one of spades, and Kaplan unhesitatingly made a bid for three.

South won with the ace of spades, automatically assuming the queen of spades in the West hand was, of course, to believe.

Kaplan followed the plan of concealing the nine, assuming that West didn't have both high spades for West would lead the fourth spade, declarer would lead the king of clubs and East would lead the king of spades and return the king of clubs. Then East returns the king of spades and declarer is forced to take the king of clubs and return the king of spades.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Stick close to your job today despite real urge to break up existing conditions and get off to some appealing delight. It's unreliable and deceptive and would cost far more than it's worth. Use your common sense today.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Fixed annoyance at home makes you want to run off to another who appears to be more "understanding." That's the bunk. You can easily handle this situation by pitching in, making repairs, bringing more harmony into your residence.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Taking any chances where your credit, vocational activities, civic duties are concerned could cause quick resentment from others. Then, you would find your prestige much lower, would take long while to build up again.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Stick to duty at hand despite all kinds of pressures to run off to something, or someone else. You can clear away such debris about you as well as organize your coming days more efficiently.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You want to plunge much time, effort, emotional force into all kinds of risky matters. Don't. Be sure you follow accepted methods. Get bills paid and collected. Complete minutiae difficult to finish during week.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Intermittent squabbling with associates will gradually lessen mutual interest in one another and your formerly congenial outlets if allowed to continue. Be generous in spirit and all works out splendidly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Making sure you test all appliances, gadgets, utilities saves you much money at later time when they come under adverse strain during oncoming worse weather. Make living-quarters more comfortable, attractive NOW.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—You want to have fun but all kinds of sudden opposition, blockade, odd conditions seem to arise to prevent. Keep attention focused upon new methods that are fascinating, require penetrating study. Then you turn annoyance to gain.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Make sure you are especially considerate at home, with all members of your own clan. Don't allow backbiting about conditions trying to hold over from the past to everyone's detriment. Show others you are understanding kind.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 21)—Try to iron out any difficulties in statements, reports, files, correspondence communications, your car or other transportation. Fix shoes. Get better picture what others expect of you. Talk things out in harmony, desire to learn.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Over-eagerness to part with some money for purposes you are not sure of yourself would merely lessen your ability to get for yourself or aid others when later desired very strongly, urgently. Paint, repair, fix up property now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—How do you expect to get ahead if you sit around fussing, fuming over situation you can easily handle by taking facts, analyzing and putting quickly behind you. Could it be you are enjoying misery? If so, you can change if you so desire.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY...
Saturday's child is one of those very unusual youngsters who will always be doing something expected. Although there is a great deal of charm present, and a natural affinity with and ability for, entertainment or governmental or other public work, there is also a deep urge to find out what makes everything tick. Therefore, a considerable curiosity in the make-up can cause him, or her, to go far afield in natural and wide directions. Early get the interest absorbed in occupations requiring much study plus applause from the public.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 7, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Making sure you quietly seek ways to better your lot early produces fine results. Then p.m. is splendid for all that has to do with health, charm, personal appearance, laundry, getting ready for week of much social activity.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Difficult conditions with others merely makes you realize more forcefully that in final analysis one must rely upon himself. Be gentle with others while searching ways to increase material security during p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Your mind is over-filled with duties, responsibilities, obligations that seem unending but clearer understanding of what is expected from you soon reveals itself by using your brilliant mind to study reason for apparent deadends.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Listening to understand suggestions given by fiery official, less deliberate, can show you ways to step up your own actions so that you accomplish more without the over-hasty irritations caused by your advisor.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Try to get to services, away from home early. You, and rest of your household need a change. This is the day to get it. Go off to quiet, pleasant place and enjoy yourself quietly, economically.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Now you should once and for all get out of that squirrel-cage which you have allowed your mind to become grooved in. Show others you can be of service without lot of irresponsible chit-chat. Help those in distress NOW.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—It's necessary you take into consideration the good-will in which the general public holds you if you are to get out from under some tense condition. Follow accepted standards rather than going off on any tangent. Be conscientious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Have you been careful not to stir up any antagonisms, even carelessly between officials and associates? If not, this is good day to so act that new sense of concord can occur between them. Size up where everyone fits best with you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Secret worry about another can be dissolved if you show your affection. You've been so busy lately you've doubtless grown to take usual companions for granted. Change all this by showing special consideration now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 21)—Your hunches, your judgment, suggestions given by others all conflict. Your best bet now is to follow accepted spiritual principles at church, philosophy of your choice. Think through surface to underlying motives.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Make sure you talk over whatever is not clearly understood between you and brilliant but erratic associate. Long range success can follow arriving at meeting of minds now. P.M. fine for study, scheduling time better.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—There is a chance now present to use your inherited background, most worthwhile experiences to clear away current fog present in your thinking. Revert to what has proven satisfactory and apply at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY...
Sunday's child is one of those unusually conscientious children who will always seem to have to learn things "the hard way." However, once your offspring has learned a lesson it will never be forgotten and when he can be sure it will be remembered at the moment when it is most needed. All kinds of interesting and unusual events will occur to give your tot a chance to gain sudden, prestige and success. Therefore, teach early that it's wise to "expect the unexpected." Then real success follows.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and small dark spots, possibly due to age or handling. A faint horizontal line is visible near the top edge, and a dark horizontal band is present at the very bottom, suggesting the page is part of a bound volume.

BRINK'S HOLD-UP THUG BELIEVED IN CANADA

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—A phantom-like bandit who shot a Brink's guard in an abortive armored car hold-up apparently slipped through a police dragnet and fled into Canada, authorities said today.

Police said a man answering the description of the bandit had crossed the international peace bridge into Ontario. The report was the only clue police had on the whereabouts of James Salemerio, 35, alias Jimmy Sheridan, the machine-gun outlaw who engineered the Wednesday night Brink's hold-up.

It was the third time that Salemerio had slipped through police nets to freedom. He escaped in a hail of bullets immediately after the $498,500 hold-up attempt failed. A short time later he evaded police who had bottled up the West Side neighborhood where he was hiding. It seemed likely today that he had eluded guards posted to seal off all exits from the city.

Vancouver Penguin Produces Rare Egg

VANCOUVER (CP)—First King penguin egg to be laid in North America arrived Wednesday night at Stanley Park Zoo.

Zoo keeper Allan Best discovered the rare egg, which he believes is the third ever produced in captivity, as he made a final round of the zoo with the watchman at 10 p.m.

"A courtship had been going on for quite a while," said Mr. Best. "I had rubber mats put on the concrete floors of the penguins' shelter so that an egg would not break when laid."

Penguins do not make nests of any kind, said Mr. Best. And the male does most of the work during the 64 days of incubation.

The egg itself is about four inches long and is nearly round, reports the jubilant zookeeper. The penguins incubate it by placing it between their feet and lowering a fringe of feathers around it "like a candle-snuffer."

There are seven King penguins in Stanley park, each valued at $500.

"It's going to be a long 64 days," sighed Allan Best, who has been hoping for such an event for many years.

'Powder Puff' Stock Car Derby Saturday

The girls will take over briefly once more at Western Speedway Saturday night in the second stock car "powder puff derby" of the season.

Ruby Newton, winner of the first derby, which is run in conjunction with the regular stock car meet, will be back to defend her crown. She will get ample argument from the likes of Pat Blake, Dory Lee Standing and Norma Packington.

In the regular events Saturday, two new cars are expected to swell the large field of entries. The new cars will be Jack Smith's new Ford and Oily Newton's rebuilt machine of last year carrying a balanced Offenhauser kit.

Time trials start at 7.30.

BOARDING HOUSE

TRAGEDY'S AFTERMATH

Use of Gun, to Stop Stolen Cars Scored

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto District Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) has condemned police use of guns to halt runaways in stolen cars.

The council, representing 65,000 workers, said there has been too much "indiscriminate" shooting and referred specifically to shooting last Monday by a suburban East York police officer which sent a car out of control and resulted in the deaths of two young nurses.

"The guns are there for the protection of individual officers and not just for shooting down children," R. H. Rosen of the International Ladies' Garment Workers said at a meeting Thursday which agreed to demand a thorough investigation of the shooting.

High Russian Award For MiG Jet Designer

MOSCOW (AP)—The President of the Supreme Soviet has awarded the Order of Lenin, of the Soviet Union's highest decorations, to the man who designed the deadly MiG fighter plane.

The award was made on the 50th birthday of Arden Ivanovich Mikoyan. The citation referred to him as the "chief constructor of airplanes" in the U.S.S.R.

Hartwig Replaces Hoad in Singles

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (UP)—Australia, with Rex Hartwig again replacing Lew Hoad, as a singles player, was favored to win both opening singles matches against Japan today in the Davis Cup interzone semi-finals.

Ken Rosewall, the steady man of the Aussie squad, meets Atsushi Miyagi in the first match, and in the second match Hartwig plays Kosei Kamo. Hoad, who once was rated the best amateur in the world but has been erratic in his play for the past year, will play doubles on Saturday in partnership with Hartwig.

Flaming Airliner Carries 30 to Death

FORT LEONARD WOOD, 30 persons to a flaming death on this military reservation Thursday. There were no survivors.

Donald D. Carr-Harris, 37-year-old Canadian-born industrial engineer, was among the dead. His wife, Ruth and two daughters, Lynn, 5, and Dale, 1, were vacationing with his parents at London, Ont., where he was born.

Intense heat from the burning wreckage and underbrush hampered rescue workers in their search for bodies hours after the crash in woods not far from the reservation's housing area where some 5,000 persons live.

Twenty-six bodies were recovered. Rescue workers expressed doubt that some of the remaining bodies would ever be found in the ashes of the smoldering two-engine plane.

TWO CHILDREN

The 27 passengers and three crew members included three women, two children and a Roman Catholic priest.

Witnesses said veteran pilot Capt. Hugh Barron of Tulsa, Okla., fought desperately to guide his crippled plane onto the military airstrip for an emergency landing even as one of the wings dropped off in flames.

The plane plummeted in flames a quarter-mile from where the wing burned off.

Over Lebanon, 30 miles away, smoke had been seen pouring from one of the engines.

The heavily wooded area where the plane crashed was only one-half mile short of the post landing field. But the terrain was so rugged it took bulldozers two hours to slash a temporary road to the scene.

MRS. HARRY PURSEY

MP's Wife Robbed Of Jewels

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Harry Pursey, former Hungarian baroness and now wife of a British member of parliament, told police early today $75,000 worth of jewelry was stolen from her rooms Thursday night.

The three-married, 41-year-old woman said her lodgings at a nursing home were ransacked while she attended a masquerade.

Mrs. Pursey, wife of Cmdr. Harry Pursey, Labor MP for East Hull, was in the news earlier when she faced charges of knowingly possessing more than $1,700 in counterfeit United States money.

A Court of Queen's Bench jury March 23 found her "not guilty due to lack of evidence." It was the second trial for Mrs. Pursey, arrested Sept. 20 in a downtown furrier's. The first ended with a hung jury in November.

Cmdr. Pursey attended both trials but was not called as a witness. He returned to Britain and Mrs. Pursey, who collapsed following her arrest and was taken to a nursing home, told reporters she would remain for a time in Montreal.

GUIST, England (CP) — Dennis Gray, 63, was cycling along a road into this Norfolk village, when he felt a pain in his stomach. He reported to the police, who spotted a needle which he had swallowed while sewing sticking out of his abdomen.

Old Treatment Cures Drug-Resisting Boils

HAMILTON (CP) — An outbreak of a minor virus infection which is resistant to antibiotics is being successfully treated in Hamilton General Hospital by methods used before the days of penicillin, Dr. J. B. Neilson, medical superintendent, said Thursday.

He said the infection is "annoying rather than serious." The virus causes outbreaks of boils which "do not react to treatment by drugs developed during the last 15 years."

Authorities at St. Joseph's Hospital said they had had cases of boils but none had been identified connected with the resistant virus strain.

Dr. Neilson recalled that medical men had long warned that types of virus and bacteria might develop which would withstand the effects of the so-called miracle drugs. Two operating rooms of a hospital had to be closed earlier this year in Calgary because of the virus known as "golden Staph."

"We have reverted to the old fashioned methods of treating the boils with heat and drainage, with some success," Dr. Neilson said. "At the same time we have been doing some experimenting. We have one antibiotic which might be effective but we are holding it in reserve."

The virus can be passed from one person to another and the first cases appearing in General Hospital were chiefly among staff which had been treating one particular patient, Dr. Neilson said.

OFFICER KILLS SELF BEFORE TESTIMONY

Mulligan Cleared In 1950 by RCMP Secret Investigation

(CP and BUP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Terry Parsloe, former RCMP officer, made a secret report to the Vancouver Police Commission in 1950 clearing Chief Walter Mulligan of accusations he accepted underworld bribes, the Tupper Royal Commission was told today.

Former Mayor Charles Thompson said he received the undercover report after appeals to the RCMP and the attorney-general to investigate were refused.

"There is not the slightest semblance of truth in suggestions that the chief is associated with the underworld or that he is taking bribes," Parsloe's report read.

The officer said it caused "much annoyance and worry" to the criminal element that they could not approach Mulligan.

PROBE COST $1,773

Commission counsel J. G. A. Hutcheson also produced accounts and receipts for an advance of $500 and expenses totalling $1,273 Parsloe incurred in his investigation.

Mr. Thompson related how Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert had come to him with Gordon Scott, then city prosecutor and now a magistrate, and told him in confidence he had taken bribes from bookmakers in 1949 and shared them with Mulligan and other officers.

He said Judge Ray Sargent, one of the three police commissioners was sent to Ottawa to ask Supt. J. S. Wood of the RCMP to investigate.

The request was refused, Mr. Thompson said, and he personally made a trip to Ottawa to ask Justice Minister Garson to intercede.

REFUSED BY GARSON

"I remember I got Mr. Garson out of the House of Commons and asked him to make an exception to help clear up the situation," he said "if we do this for Vancouver's municipal force, we would be called upon by other municipalities."

Mr. Thompson, an automobile executive who was mayor from Jan. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1950, testified that Cuthbert came to him in 1949 "and told me a story that he had been taking money from certain people and dividing it with police chief Walter Mulligan."

"I was under the impression it had concluded by the time he came to see me."

He said he also had a meeting in confidence with Det. Sgt. Robert Leatherdale on the subject.

As a result of the Parsloe report, Mr. Hutcheson asked, what action did the police commission take?

"We didn't take any action because we didn't have anything to base our action on. In the case of Cuthbert we could not use his evidence."

Mr. Thompson said the men on the various police squads were scattered.

"Why did you retain Cuthbert on the force?" asked Mr. Hutcheson.

"Well, if we dismissed him we would have to show cause," Mr. Thompson said Cuthbert had told him the evidence he had given in confidence to himself and Mr. Scott would be denied in public.

T. G. Norris, counsel for Mulligan, cross-examining Mr. Thompson asked if the squad system was under fire before Cuthbert came to him.

"So I understand."

"Then in effect it was the policy of the police commission and the chief constable carried it out?" Mr. Norris asked.

"That's right."

Mr. Norris asked if Mr. Thompson "considered the unfairness of leaving this self-admitted bribe-taker" on his hands.

Keeping Cuthbert was the lesser of two evils, the former mayor replied.

Parsloe was identified as a security officer for the Powell River Pulp and Paper Co.

"I saw Mr. Parsloe myself and made arrangements myself," Mr. Thompson told Mr. Norris. "Other members of the commission were not present, although they were fully aware of the arrangements." Judge Sargent and Magistrate Oscar Orr were the other commissioners.

"The three of us met—but not in commission—and read the report. It did not get into the records."

He said the report "went into a sealed envelope at City Hall" on his orders.

The letter was shown to then attorney-general Gordon Wismer who said "we had a very clean police force in Vancouver."

Mr. Wismer's name has been mentioned by Det. Sgt. Archie Plummer earlier in the inquiry.

Plummer said Cuthbert told him the chief "had everything fixed in Victoria" and was "close to Wismer."

Cuthbert said earlier this week he is confident he did not mention Mr. Wismer by name and the former attorney-general has asked to testify to refute Plummer's statement.

WALLACE ABSENT

Edwin Percy (Pete) Wallace was the first witness called today, but did not answer the call.

Wallace has been named during the inquiry as a gambler who paid for protection of his bookmaking premises.

H. Lyle Jesty, counsel for Supt. Jack Horton, chief of detectives, said Wallace, under subpoena to testify today, had understood there would be other witnesses ahead of him.

"He said he was making $13.20 a day at the Alberta Wheat Pool and would make only $6 a day as a witness," said Mr. Jesty. "He will be here."

First witness today was scheduled to have been Supt. Harry Whelan, who died at his home from a gunshot wound earlier in the morning.

Commission Counsel Hutcheson opened the session, saying to Mr. Tupper: "... we were very sorry to hear about Mr. Whelan, who was in the box earlier."

Mr. Tupper, reported upset over the shooting, plus the loss of his law partner, D. Milton Owen, missing aboard a lost plane in the Kitimat area, interrupted Mr. Hutcheson quietly, and said: "Call the next witness."

FIRST SWEEPSTAKES LEGALIZED IN U.S.

CONCORD, N.H. (UP)—Governor Lane Dwinell signs today a legislative bill setting up the first state sweepstakes in the nation.

The sweepstakes bill was approved Thursday by the New Hampshire Senate.

Under the plan, two extra races would be held annually at Rockingham Park horse track. Tickets would be sold at $5 each for a tentative top prize of $25,000.

State Rep. Laurence M. Pickett, sponsor of the bill, said it would bring the state about $2,000,000 annually in added revenue. Money from the sweepstakes would go into the state's general fund.

Thieves Get $3,600 From Bank Messenger

Planes Search Fruitlessly For Lost Craft

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fifteen planes are scouring the coastal wilderness of British Columbia in a stepped-up search for an amphibian aircraft missing since Wednesday night with five men aboard.

RCAF search officials said low-hanging cloud had stymied an air search Thursday for the Grumman Mallard amphibian which disappeared on a flight from Kamama to Kitimat, 400 miles north of Vancouver.

Aboard the missing Pacific Western Airlines plane are three prominent Vancouver businessmen, the pilot and co-pilot. They are:

D. Milton Owen, 42, deputy chairman of the Vancouver school board and partner in the law firm headed by Defence Minister Campney;

Lt. Col. Macgregor Macintosh, 58, formerly of Victoria, industrial consultant and one-time Conservative member of the B.C. legislature;

Albert Gorman, 43-year-old assistant manager of the Saguayan-Kitimat Co., a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of Canada;

Edward Bell of Vancouver, pilot, and Kendall King, 23, of North Vancouver, co-pilot.

Marlene At 18th In Par

Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., defending champion of the Canadian Ladies' Close Golf championship, today was an even par 77 at the end of her second 18-hole round in the 54-hole tournament.

Miss Stewart Thursday shot a par-breaking 75 to lead Miss Rae Milligan of Jasper by four strokes.

Women's par for the Colwood course is 77.

Miss Stewart went one under par at the 405-yard dog-leg third hole today with a birdie four.

She remained one under par until the ninth when she took a bogie five, taking three shots from the edge of the green. That gave her a ladies' par 37 in the front nine. She then parred the next four holes and again went one under with a birdie four on the 426-yard 14th. However, she bumped into trouble on the 165-yard, par 3 15th when her tee shot caught a trap and she took a bogie four.

For the second successive day Miss Stewart was in the trap to the left of the 16th green.

She blasted out 30 feet past the pin and barely missed the putt for a birdie, finally getting down in a par 5. She took a bogie 5 on 17 but made a sensational recovery for a birdie 4 on the 18th.

THIRD IN FAMILY

Whelan's Daughter, Father Suicides

(CP and BUP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Police Superintendent Harry Whelan was the third in his family to commit suicide.

His daughter took her own life in 1952 while on a holiday in California.

His father killed himself several years earlier—using Whelan's police revolver.

Born in Boston 51 years ago—while his family was moving from Newfoundland—Whelan arrived in Vancouver at the age of nine months.

After working several years with Union Steamships where he earned a master mariner's certificate at the age of 21 to become the youngest man on the B.C. coast ever to do so, Whelan joined the police department in 1927.

He became a detective in 1934, a detective inspector in 1946 and superintendent of the criminal investigation branch in 1951. Appointed deputy chief constable three months later, Whelan was promoted to superintendent of the police patrol (uniform) branch in 1953 after being disciplined for an off-duty incident.

Police officers said Whelan had loaded every chamber in the revolver he used to kill himself in the living room of his neat two-story bungalow at 1325 East 17th avenue.

He was found dying in a pool of blood on a chertfield. The bullet went right through the chertfield.

Mrs. Whelan is under treatment for shock this afternoon. Their sons, 15 and 10 years old, are with relatives.

Mrs. Whelan told police her husband had been restless all night. When he got up at an early hour, she presumed he was going to the bathroom. When he failed to return she called him.

"No, I'm not going back to bed," he answered.

Then the shot rang out.

She said Whelan got up from the chertfield when she rushed into the room. Then he collapsed.

He rallied momentarily in the ambulance but was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

Bud Nugent, a long-time personal friend of Whelan, was one of the first to reach the house after the shooting.

There were tears streaming down his face when he left an hour later.

He told reporters he was going to White Rock to get Mrs. Whelan's mother and father and take them to her.

Cal Daisley, a neighbor, said "it was just like losing a member of the family" when he heard that Whelan was dead.

He said that he had known Whelan ever since the superintendent first joined the police force and moved into the house across the street in 1926.

Commissioner Tupper, when told of the shooting, said "that certainly is sad." In Victoria, Attorney-General Bonner was "greatly shocked."

Supt. Harry Whelan Suicide; Feared 'Smear'

VANCOUVER—Police superintendent Harry Whelan committed suicide today, three hours before he was scheduled for cross-examination at the Royal commission investigating the police force.

His wife found him at 8 a.m. in the living-room of their home, mortally wounded. His service revolver was by his side.

High Vancouver police officials said the wound was self-inflicted.

Superintendent Whelan was accused at earlier commission hearings of being the key figure in a senior police officers' conspiracy to "destroy" Chief Walter Mulligan—"the only man the underworld really fears."

The accusation was made by T. G. Norris, QC, counsel for Chief Mulligan.

On Thursday Whelan told lawyer Neil Fleischman, one of the commission counsel, he was afraid of testifying, fearing a "smear campaign" against his personal life.

Whelan was the second Vancouver police officer to shoot himself.

Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert, whose charges of bribe-taking by Chief Mulligan sparked the police probe, shot himself with his service revolver June 24—also about 8 o'clock in the morning in the police station.

The bullet missed Cuthbert's heart by a fraction of an inch, and he recovered to become the key witness in the inquiry. He ended six days of testimony and cross-examination Thursday.

Got Cuthbert's Statement

Whelan was one of the last to talk to Cuthbert before the chief's suicide attempt.

Whelan rushed to Cuthbert's side after the shooting, and said: "No hard feelings, Len." "No hard feelings," replied the wounded Cuthbert.

Cuthbert testified last week that Whelan early this year asked him to sign a statement on bribery-taking in which Cuthbert claimed Chief Mulligan shared. At that time Whelan said "I think we have enough evidence on this monkey to send him to jail." He gestured.

Cuthbert testified, in the general direction of the chief's office.

Whelan testified at the opening sessions of the police probe July 14. He gave evidence concerning notes he took in a series of interviews with Cuthbert.

The superintendent said Cuthbert told him about splitting gambling payoffs with chief Mulligan.

Whelan's cross-examination was deferred until today so that Cuthbert, then recovering from his suicide attempt, could testify first.

Whelan was near death when Mrs. Whelan reached his side. He died moments later in an ambulance. Police said his service revolver was fully loaded, the chamber containing only one spent bullet.

Several police officers live in the district and within minutes of the first call to headquarters, they had reached the scene.

Several police officers live in the district and within minutes of the first call to headquarters, they had reached the scene.

Fellow officers said the tall, pipe-smoking superintendent appeared to be in a depressed and disturbed state Thursday. He was brusque in conversations with other officers and with newspaper reporters, a wide departure from his usually friendly manner.

In October, 1953, while serving as assistant police chief, Whelan was demoted to head of the uniform branch as the result of disciplinary action launched by the Vancouver police commission.

The demotion came after a two-hour closed meeting at city hall, and information concerning the charge was laid before the commission by chief Mulligan from a report filed by R.C.M.P. officers.

Commissioners said only that the incident leading to Whelan's demotion occurred outside the city during non-duty hours.

"I will be content to leave the matter with the royal commission at the moment," he said.

Whelan was one of the most popular officers on the Vancouver force although he had the reputation of being a strict disciplinarian.

Par Golf

Long-hitting Marlene Stewart, the intense little golf wizard from Fonthill, Ontario, appears well on the way to her fifth Canadian Ladies' Close Golf Championship.

Today, Miss Stewart matched par figures over the Colwood Golf and Country Club, firing a regulation 77 which, added to her two-under par 75 in Thursday's first round, gives her a score of 152 for the first 36 holes of the 54-hole medal contest.

WELL AHEAD

Miss Stewart is far ahead of the rest of the field for the first two rounds. Rae Milligan of Jasper, probably Miss Stewart's most serious threat, had a 79 Thursday and a two-over par 39 for the first nine holes today.

Vancouver's Ruth Wilson put together a 37-44 today for 81 but had an 82 Thursday for a total of 163, 11 strokes behind Miss Stewart.

Miss Stewart matched par on both nines today. She birdied the difficult 405-yard third hole but took a bogie five on the ninth. On the back nine, she birdied the 14th, took a bogie four on the short 15th, bogied the 17th but birdied the 18th to again match par. On the 18th, she was in the rough with her second shot but recovered with a long chip shot that landed 30 inches from the pin.

Secret RCMP Report
Cleared Mulligan
In 1950 Probe Told

(Compiled From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Terry Parsloe, former RCMP officer, made a secret report to the Vancouver Police Commission in 1950 clearing Chief Walter Mulligan of accusations he accepted underworld bribes, the Tupper Royal Commission was told today.

Former Mayor Charles Thompson said he received the undercover report after appeals to the RCMP and the attorney-general to investigate were refused.

"There is not the slightest semblance of truth in suggestions that the chief is associated with the underworld or that he is taking bribes," Parsloe's report read.

The officer said it caused "much annoyance and worry" to the criminal element that they could not approach Mulligan.

PROBE COST $1,773

Commission counsel J. G. A. Hutcheson also produced accounts and receipts for an advance of $500 and expenses totalling $1,273 Parsloe incurred in his investigation.

Mr. Thompson related how Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert had come to him with Gordon Scott, then city prosecutor and now a magistrate, and told him in confidence he had taken bribes from bookmakers in 1949 and shared them with Mulligan and other officers.

He said Judge Ray Sargent, one of the three police commissioners was sent to Ottawa to ask Supt. J. S. Wood of the RCMP to investigate.

The request was refused, Mr. Thompson said, and he personally made a trip to Ottawa to ask Justice Minister Gaisson to intercede.

REFUSED BY GARSON

"I remember I got Mr. Garson out of the House of Commons and asked him to make an exception to help clear up the situation. He said 'If we do this for Vancouver's municipal force, we would be called upon by other municipalities.'"

Mr. Thompson, an automobile executive who was mayor from Jan. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1950, testified that Cuthbert came to him in 1949 "and told me a story that he had been taking

LANGLEY PRAIRIE, B.C. (BUP) — Three armed men today held up bank messenger William Allan Walker of $3,600 and escaped in a late model car.

The robbery occurred about 10:20 a.m. near this Fraser Valley center.

From CP and BUP Dispatches

VANCOUVER — The scandal-ridden Vancouver police department erupted with fresh violence today when Superintendent Harry Whelan committed suicide three hours before he was to testify before the Royal Commission investigating the police force.

Whelan, 53, shot himself through the heart with his service revolver shortly before 8 a.m. His pyjama-clad body was found in a pool of blood on the chesterfield in his living-room by his wife. The bullet passed through his heart and lodged in the chesterfield.
